FOR GOD'S SAKE DON'T USE FORCE, SHE CRIES TO KING

Militant Suffragette Invades Palace and Creates a Scene as British Rulers Are Holding Court.

WOMAN FELL ON KNEES BEFORE KING GEORGE

She Was Attired in Court Dress and Created Consternation — She Was Handed Over to Police.

London, June 4.—The king and queen held court at Buckingham palace tonight and despite all precautions a militant suffragette gained access to their presence and interrupted the presentations.

As she was passing the king the suffragette dropped on her knees and cried: "Your majesty, for God's sake do not use force."

The woman was attired in court dress and her action caused consternation. She continued to admonish the king, but the conductor of the band in the gallery signalled to the band to play louder and the woman's voice was drowned.

The woman immediately was removed from the room and handed over to the police. Her name was not learned and close inquiries are being made as to how she obtained a card of admission.

Esther Cleveland Presented.

Among those presented to the king and queen were Miss Esther Cleveland, of Princeton, N. J., daughter of the late Grover Cleveland; Ralph Page, son of the American ambassador; Mrs. Ralph Page, Mrs. Edward Bell, wife of the second secretary of the American embassy; Mrs. Randolph Mordecai and Miss Margaret Pennington, both of Baltimore; Miss Dorothy Doubleday, New York, and Miss Mary Sanger, of Sangerfield, N.-Y.

The scene was brief and the assemblage generally had little knowledge of what was transpiring.

Whether the woman was an invited guest who sympathized with the suffragette movement or an intruder who gained admission by forged card is not known. The police had knowledge of a conspiracy to approach the royal presence, and every guest and every carriage approaching Buckingham palace tonight and had been subjected to close inspection by detectives—a unique precaution and one that caused considerable delay and gave not a little indignation or irritation in court circles.

Tonight's incident is calculated to produce a feeling of still greater exasperation in the public mind and renewed demands for strong measures to suppress the suffragette agitation.

On Her Knees to King.

London, June 5.—Late editions of the London morning papers publish different versions of the court incident. The Daily Mail says:

"Just before 11 o'clock the court was startled by a well modulated voice crying, 'Your majesty, for God's sake—'

"Immediately two gentlemen of the court stepped forward, and it was seen that a handsome young woman, attired in black, was on her knees with hands stretched toward the king. The officials raised her and without ceremony on her part escorted her out. Neither the king nor any other member of the royal circle paid the slightest attention to the incident."

According to The Daily Chronicle the demonstration was made by two titled ladies, sympathizers with the suffragist movement, both of whom had previously been presented at court and were entitled to cards for all court functions. When in the royal presence they raised their voices in a demand that the vote be conceded to women. Court officials intervened and escorted them to an ante-room to await their automobiles, and they then were conducted beyond the palace precincts.

Women Threaten Editors.

London, June 4.—Striking scenes were witnessed at a meeting of the Women's Social and Political union tonight. Mrs. Mansell presided and threatened London editors with the fate of the two militant editors, assaulted in their offices yesterday by militants. The audience worked itself into a state of hysterical excitement, loudly cheering all references to violence and greeting the mention of the government and police with cries of "animals," and "serves the brutes right." "Let the editors beware."

The union will observe next week as self-denial week.

"General" Mrs. Flora Drummond was rearrested tonight in Governor place, just outside Buckingham palace, under the "cat and mouse act."

ROOSEVELT IS URGED TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

New York, June 4.—Theodore Roosevelt as the progressive party candidate for governor of New York is the desire of the state progressive campaign advisory committee, which met here today. After his return from his South American explorations, Colonel Roosevelt stated he would not be a candidate.

The advisory committee, after its meeting today issued a statement saying there was a demand for Colonel Roosevelt to be the progressive gubernatorial nominee and that the time had come for his party "to end the futile alternation between republican and democratic misrule between 'Murphy's Tammany and Barnes' Tammany."

Although announced candidacy of District Attorney Charles S. Whitman for governor on the republican ticket and the published statement that Colonel Roosevelt probably would support Mr. Whitman, the committee asserted that it approved the statement of State Chairman T. Douglas Robinson on Tuesday pointing out "the impossibility of Mr. Whitman's candidacy on the progressive ticket."

"MAN OF MYSTERY" FOUND BY MOTHER AFTER EIGHT YEARS

Chicago, June 4.—"J. C. R." the Rochester, Minn., and Chicago man of mystery today was identified by Mrs. H. E. Pitkin of Chicago as her son, Carl W. Iles, a mining engineer missing eight years. Iles gave her feeble signs of recognition, but he could say nothing as his vocal cords are paralyzed.

"J. C. R." was found unconscious on the streets here last November. At an infirmary he sometimes wrote the initials, "J. C. R." and at other times "J. R. R." Later he was identified as a man who had escaped from a Rochester, Minn., hospital. He had spent years there and was known only as "J. C. R."

Mrs. Pitkin will take Iles to her home. She heard from him last in 1906. He then was in the Goldfield, Nevada, mining district.

TO STOP GAMBLING IN COTTON FUTURES

Lever Measure Is Favorably Reported to House—Provisions of Measure Are Explained by Chairman Lever

Washington, June 4.—The Lever cotton futures bill was favorably reported to the house today as a substitute for the bill already passed by the senate.

Representative Lever, of South Carolina, author of the bill and chairman of the agriculture committee, included in his favorable report a comprehensive analysis of cotton exchange transactions. The bill, says the report, "recognizes the economic value of those cotton exchanges that use a contract representative of the true value of spinnable cotton, and levels its prohibition against those exchanges only the value of whose contracts is susceptible to violent fluctuations and manipulation.

Prohibitive Tax on Certain Contracts.

"Upon such contracts the value of which, under the rules of the exchanges, does not reflect truly the value of spot cotton as it exists from day to day in the hands of the farmers and in the markets," adds the report, "a tax of $5 a bale is levied. Such a tax, in the judgment of the trade, is absolutely prohibitive. Upon such contracts as do represent the value of spot cotton, no tax whatever is laid, and this is true likewise of all spot cotton transactions, including 'for cotton 'to arrive' and 'for prompt delivery.'

"The whole purpose of the bill is to compel, by law, the use of such a contract by the future markets, the quotations of the value of which will reflect accurately and truly the value of spot cotton of spinnable and unsalable quality. In the light of the best information available, the ultimate effect of providing a contract of the character described in the bill will be to enhance, in the opinion of experts, the value of the cotton crop in the hands of the farmers of the south, not less than $100,000,000 annually."

Mr. Lever said he hoped for passage of the bill by the house at this session. The senate measure, which was introduced by Senator Smith, of South Carolina, differs from the Lever bill only in minor details.

Effect of the Measure.

Summarizing at length the provisions and effect of the house bill, Chairman Lever's report says:

"The bill compels the adoption of the government official standards by all cotton exchanges. It establishes a uniform standard of grades throughout the country and relieves the trade of the confusion and abuses growing out of the present multiplicity of standards in different markets. It prohibits the use, in the settlement of contracts, of 'private, local and unsound' differences, 'difference system,' and substitutes therefor the system of commercial differences in determining the relative value of grades delivered upon contracts. It denies to any cotton exchange the use in the settlement of future contracts of cotton, under the terms of which the very low grades of cotton, 'rejections,' 'left-overs,' 'mixeds' and 'dog tails'—qualities of cotton entirely unsuited for spinning purposes—are deliverable upon it. It provides that cotton of a staple less than seven-eighths of an inch in length shall not be delivered in the settlement of such a contract.

"Each bale of cotton to be delivered upon a contract shall be identified by the exchange on the date when the cotton is to be delivered to the purchaser, thus abolishing the vicious practice of long delays and unsound transactions. It provides that the secretary of agriculture shall determine in cases of disputes arising between the parties making the tender and the person receiving the same, the quality, or the grade or the length of staple in dispute, furnishing, as it were, an unbiased tribunal to which may be referred questions which involve the quality on the grade or the length of a staple of any cotton tendered under the contract.

To Determine Relative Value.

"Provision is made for the method of determining the relative commercial value of the different grades of cotton which may be delivered upon contract, and the secretary of agriculture is given such plenary power as will make it impossible to manipulate the machinery by which these differences are determined.

"Authority is given the secretary of agriculture to establish and promulgate standards of cotton by which its quality and value may be judged, thus making certain the legality of the official standard of grades.

"It is required of all persons coming within the provisions of the bill to keep such records and such systems of accounts as will fully and correctly disclose all transactions made upon any cotton exchange, or similar institution, or place of business.

The bill undertakes to prevent, as far as possible, the evasion of the present vicious practices of certain exchanges from this country to foreign countries.

"It is provided that any person liable to the payment of any tax imposed by this act, who fails to pay, evades or attempts to evade, the paymetn of such a tax, or any person who otherwise violates any of the provisions of the act, or any rule of regulation, made under it, shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $20,000, and in case of natural persons may in addition be punished by imprisonment for not less than sixty days or more than three years and, in addition to this, may be fined $2,000, to be recovered in an action founded on this act in the name of the United States as plaintiff."

"MOTHER" MARY JONES BARRED FROM VESSEL

Seattle, June 4.—"Mother" Mary Jones, organizer for the United Mine Workers of America, today was barred by a Canadian immigration inspector from boarding a Canadian Pacific steamer bound for Vancouver, because Chief Campbell, of the provincial police, at Victoria, decided she would be "a disturbing element."

"Mother" Jones was on her way to Nanaimo to address striking miners. United Mine Workers of America officials immediately wired Secretary of Labor Wilson, at Washington, asking him to see that "Mother" Jones is accorded every right to which she is entitled as an American citizen.

The immigration official met Mrs. Jones at the gangplank, looked at her ticket, and, according to her, he said:

"You're not going to Vancouver. You want to reach Nanaimo to kick up a disturbance among the miners, and you can't go."

Husband's Friendship For "a Blonde Lady" Puts Schumann-Heink in Divorce Court

MME. ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-HEINK.

The noted prima donna, in her suit for divorce, accuses her husband of being too friendly to a "blonde lady." Husband, in cross bill, accuses Mme. Schumann-Heink of being too friendly with other men.

Celebrated Prima Donna Tells Story of Spouse's Infidelity and of Her Domestic Woes to a Chicago Jury.

SONG BIRD IS ACCUSED OF LIKING OTHER MEN

Schumann-Heink Denies That She Ever Lived With Any Other Man Except Husband—Scene Created by Husband.

Chicago, June 4.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink today unfolded the story of her domestic woes before a jury hearing her suit for divorce from William Rapp, Jr., of New York. Rapp, she said, had been friendly to "a blonde lady in New York" whom she subsequently named as Mrs. Catherine Dean.

Mme. Schumann-Heink entered court wearing a handsome black summer gown. She and Rapp separated three years ago.

Large Crowd Present.

In one corner of the room stood the defendant surrounded by friends, and in another the singer with her friends. There was a large crowd of onlookers anxious to see what a prima donna looks like off the stage.

Elias Mayer, attorney for the complainant, named Mrs. Catherine E. Dean, of New York city as co-respondent.

"We will show," he declared, "that this defendant lived in the apartment of the co-respondent at 237 Holmes street, and that later they were together at 3729 Manhattan avenue We will show that Rapp sent Mrs. Dean a diamond engagement ring and that he wrote her a letter in which he said he had no steady income, but would send her $25 a week if she would be satisfied"

Rapp's Alleged Visits to Woman.

Two depositions were read, one from Julia Williams, a maid formerly employed by Mrs. Dean, and one from a New York detective, who told of numerous visits to a Fifth avenue restaurant by Mrs. Deann and Rapp. According to his deposition the detective followed Rapp many nights from his office in West Thirty-fourth street to various places where he met Mrs. Dean.

The deposition of Mrs. Williams was that Rapp had lived at the apartment of Mrs. Dean for several months in 1913.

Madame Schumann-Heink's domestic trials were remembered by the spectators with smiles when she insisted that Chicago was her real home.

"I live here," the witness said, "and every day I help in tidying up and cleaning the place. I do washing, too."

She and Rapp separated three years ago.

Direct examination by Attorney Mayer ceased abruptly without any attempt to go into the witness' life with Rapp or his alleged relations with Mrs Dean.

She Has Eight Children.

The singer has eight children, one adopted and seven by previous marriages. The oldest, she said, was 32 years of age.

One of last year the singer went to Culver, Ind., to be present at the graduation of her son, Franz George Washington Heink.

"Did you like Indiana?" insinuated Ben M. Smith, counsel for Rapp.

"My daughter, my chauffeur, my cooks, my waiters and a gentleman went with me," was the reply.

"And who was the gentleman?"

"Mr. George Baldwin."

Witness rented a cottage there and remained five days.

"Where did Baldwin live?" asked the lawyer, but an objection shut off the answer.

Madame Schumann-Heink chuckled when Smith asked her if a Mr. McNamara visited her at her New Jersey home.

"No man came to live with me in New Jersey," she laughed. 'He came to me to take singing lessons. We sang together on the stage."

Mayer explained that the singer referred to was Edward J. McNamara.

In cross examination Mme. Schumann-Heink frequently expostulated with her husband's attorney.

"Let me say what I wish, please," she begged. "I do not mean to say the wrong thing."

Husband Accuses Singer.

Rapp charged in a cross bill that his wife had been too friendly with other men. She denied the accusations. She said she never had any love for Edward McNamara, one-time policeman, who visited her in New Jersey.

"Who was with you in Caldwell, N. J.," the attorney asked. "Wasn't there a man named McNamara?"

The question aroused Mme. Schumann-Heinks's wrath. Her eyes blazed.

"I never have lived with any man," she answered. "I have lived alone since my husband left."

"I hadn't asked you that," the lawyer replied.

The singer told of a consultation with Rapp at her Chicago home last July. She testified that her husband then said she wanted a divorce.

"I didn't want a divorce I told him," she said. "I am happy as I am with my children and my art. I told him I would never think of marrying again. Always I said I never wanted a divorce."

Rapp's counsel asked about a visit to Culver Military academy when her son graduated. The singer said she met nearly every officer of the academy on the maneuver drill and that the officers had visited her at her home.

Hans Schuiger, a butler employed by the singer, testified that no man had ever spent the night at her home here.

Rapp Creates Commotion.

A letter written by Rapp to his wife in June, 1912, giving seven reasons why

WILL GRATIFY HARDWICK IN DESIRE FOR DEBATE

John R. Cooper Writes That He Is Anxious to Meet Him.

Macon, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—There is no further need for Congressman Thomas Hardwick to go gallivanting up and down the state crying out that no one will meet him in joint debate. John R. Cooper, one of the candidates who was not challenged by Mr. Hardwick, because, said the latter, there would not be time for all five to speak from the same platform, today wrote Mr. Hardwick a letter challenging him to a joint debate or a series of debates on the issues of the campaign. Apparently the issue is right up to Mr. Hardwick, and Colonel Cooper and his friends here say that the decision of the Georgia congressman will prove whether he was really in earnest when he was hurling defiance at Governor Slaton and Thomas S. Felder.

That a debate between Hardwick and Cooper would draw a big crowd goes without saying. Both are born stump speakers and can set off enough fireworks in the course of an hour's speech to so furnish enough noise for an entire Fourth of July celebration. There are plenty of places that would be ready to bid for just such an event. Colonel Cooper's challenge to Mr. Hardwick follows:

"Hon. Thomas W. Hardwick, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: I see by the papers that you have expressed a willingness to meet your opponents who aspire to fill the unexpired term of the lamented A. O. Bacon in the United States senate on the stump and discuss the issues of the campaign before the people. In your letter you refer to me, and state that 'it would be impracticable for all five of the candidates to participate in the discussion at one time.' I am ready to bid for just such an event. Colonel Cooper's challenge to Mr. Hardwick follows:

"Hon. Thomas W. Hardwick, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: I see by the papers that you have expressed a willingness to meet your opponents who aspire to fill the unexpired term of the lamented A. O. Colonel Cooper's challenge to Mr. Hardwick follows:

"If I believe, like you, that the people of Georgia are entitled to see and hear all of the candidates running for this great office speak from the same platform, so that they can intelligently make up their minds who is the best man in the race. So I have decided, after due consideration, to extend to you an invitation to meet me on the stump and discuss the issues of the campaign before the people of Georgia. If you accept my invitation, let me know and we will arrange a series of joint debates.

"With my high personal regards, I am, yours very truly,

"JOHN R. COOPER.

DISMISS TWO CHARGES OF RECKLESS DRIVING

Cases of Drivers, Whose Cars Figured in Fatal Accidents, Tried Before Recorder.

Two charges of reckless driving of automobiles, following fatal accidents, were dismissed by Recorder Nash Broyles on Thursday.

The first case was against L. F. Whitter, of the Whitter Manufacturing company, who ran over J. T. Stevens, an aged resident of Lakewood Heights, on May 16, at the corner of Forsyth and Mitchell streets, while rushing his son to the Grady hospital for surgical treatment of a hand he had injured in a machine lathe. The injured man died a few days later.

The case against Mrs. A. M. Balding, of 82 Garden street, wife of a local jeweler, who ran over David Lieberman, an aged confederate veteran, of 497 Washington street, last Sunday and killed him, the injured man dying half an hour afterwards, was also dismissed. According to the testimony of witnesses, the accident was unavoidable.

Judge Broyles said that drivers of automobiles in the city should take more care in order to avoid accidents.

Chief Beavers has issued special instructions to his men to punish all violators of the speed law.

She Declares Husband Forced Her to Drink So as to Get Divorce

Savannah, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Admitting that she frequently got drunk, Mrs. Mary E. Moehrke testified in the superior court today that her husband, Paul Moehrke, forced her to drink in order that he might obtain evidence upon which to base action for divorce. They are fighting for divorce and the custody of their child.

The husband, who is one of the best known members of the Savannah police department, made serious charges against his wife and she retaliated in kind.

GOVERNMENT WANTS ALL RAILWAY SECRETS

Washington, June 4.—Attorney General McReynolds today filed in the supreme court an appeal from the federal district court in Kentucky denying the application of the government for an order compelling the Louisville and Nashville railroad to permit examiners of the interstate commerce commission to examine its files of correspondence. The attorney general contends that a railroad can have no secrets from the government.

The case is regarded of high importance.

STIFF PRICE PUT BY GEN. HUERTA ON RESIGNATION

Dictator Demands as Compensation for His Retirement the Legalization of All His Acts.

CARRANZA DELAYING REPLY TO MEDIATORS

A. B. C. Envoys and Washington Officials Regard the Silence of the Rebel Cheif as Favorable Omen.

Vera Cruz, June 4.—The price Provisional President Huerta demands for his retirement is the legalization of his official acts since his appointment to the provisional presidency, according to advices from the capital today.

This is said to have been the proposal General Huerta authorized his delegates to offer at the mediation conference at Niagara Falls.

The constitutionalists, it is said, have insisted that no act of General Huerta's administration shall ever be regarded as legal and in that case General Huerta foresees enormous financial losses for those who joined in the flotation of his loans as well as personal risk for the members of his cabinet, for the new congressmen installed in place of those whom he imprisoned and for thousands of minor officials and even private citizens who willingly or unwillingly aided his government.

NO EARLY ANSWER FROM GENERAL CARRANZA.

El Paso, June 4.—General Carranza announced today through agents here that he would not make answer to the communication of the A. B. C. mediators, nor issue his proclamation dealing with the formation of a provisional government in northern Mexico until he had reached Saltillo.

At the same time it was announced that the constitutionalist commander-in-chief and department in Durango on his way to Saltillo by way of Torreon. The delay in the issuance of the proclamation is believed to have been occasioned by some phase of the Niagara Falls conference and the reported desire of Carranza formally to establish himself as provisional president at Saltillo.

Meanwhile today was reported as preparing to move south from Chihuahua City to meet Carranza at Torreon, and thence to proceed south on the campaigns against Zacatecas and San Luis Potosi. Meanwhile the creation of a new central military zone in command of General Natera, which was made yesterday by Carranza, continued to cause discussion as to its effect on Villa's military plans.

The opinions of those surrounding Carranza regarding the three-cornered conference at Niagara was reflected today in a semi-official statement from Durango.

The statement follows:

"Hamlet with Hamlet left out is the way constitutionalist leaders here expressed themselves today regarding the conferences at Niagara Falls. They plan only to be forced to settle interior affairs in Mexico without the participation of the constitutionalists, who are regarded by them as impossible. They point out that the only party directly interested in Mexico which has been represented in the formation of the Niagara Falls plans has been that of Huerta. This party, dictated by the constitutionalists at every point, is in the throes of dissolution and is in no condition to fulfill any pledges that might be made. The constitutionalists have declared repeatedly that the sole solution of the present difficulties of the country was the elimination of Huerta and his party from politics.

The constitutionalists emphasize the fact that they will recognize only a government established under the plan of Guadalupe at the triumph of the revolution. By this time the commander-in-chief of the constitutionalist party will be provisional president of Mexico, while elections are being verified and constitutional order is restored.

"In a word, the constitutionalists

SILENCE REGARDED AS FAVORABLE OMEN.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 4.—Mediation waited another day for word from General Carranza on constitutionalist participation at the conferences here.

but no word came. The silence was regarded as a favorable omen, for it was interpreted as meaning that the constitutionalists were weighing carefully the advantages of mediation.

There were no conferences again today. The American commissioners stayed at their hotel studying data already furnished them by the Washington government on personas mentioned for the new provisional government. The Mexican delegates talked among themselves. It was a rainy, dreary day. An answer from Carranza —or at least an intimation of its character—is expected tomorrow. Should the constitutionalists decide to send delegates there fe wdays as the mediators have asked them to send their representatives at their convenience, affording time for information from General Carranza.

In that event, the mediators may declare a short recess, attending in the meantime, to neglected personal affairs. The work of mediation would be resumed as rapidly as possible and the mediators are confident of making even faster progress than heretofore when they have all parties in the controversy represented.

Means of communication for the constitutionalists are even better than is possessed by the Huerta delegates. A direct telegraph line could be set up from here to Durango, Mexico, General Carranza's headquarters, so that he could be kept constantly informed and furnish prompt replies to questions as they arise.

SITUATION IS BETTER, SAY REBEL AGENTS.

Washington, June 4.—The Washington government today waited on Carranza in so far as progress in Mexican mediation was concerned. It was clearly apparent that the constitutionalist leader was expected to make the next move on the diplomatic negotiations toward composition of Mexican affairs, but tonight no word had come as to what that move would be.

A constitutionalist deadquarters here no immediate action was expected. Rafael Zubaran, Gen. Carranza's chief representative in Washington, said:

"I transmitted the note to General Carranza last night. It probably will be two or three days before a response is dispatched, General Carranza is about to leave for Saltillo, which also will operate to delay his decision."

Asked directly about the chances for constitutionalist representation at Niagara Falls, Mr. Zubaran said:

"Affairs are getting better, or to quote Mr. Bryan's phrase the situation is encouraging."

Washington officials today would not discuss the situation for publication. John Lind, who represented the state department in dealing with the constitutionalists, conferred with the members of the agency here thruout the day, urging them to use their influence to have their chieftain reply favorably to the proposals of the South American mediators.

Luis Cabrera, mentioned as a probable delegate to the peace conference, should Carranza agree to participate, was in conference with Mr. Lind for several hours after which Cabrera joined his colleagues, Mr. Zubaran, Jose Vasconcelos and Juan F. Urquidi.

COMMITMENT WAIVED BY ALLEGED KIDNAPER

Rome, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Homer Cone, a well-known young man about town, charged with kidnaping, waived his commitment trial, which was set before Justice of the Peace Broach for today and the case will come up before the grand jury at the July term of superior court.

Cone is alleged to have attempted to kidnap Ann W. Bennett, Jr., son of John W. Bennett, of Waycross, a prominent attorney. The boy is 17 years old and was here on a visit to his sister, Miss Juanita Bennett, a student at Shorter college. He was enticed from the train by a man with an automobile at Lindale, the first station south of Rome, while on his way to Joliu his father in Atlanta. By-standers interfered and the boy was brought back to Rome and placed in charge of his sister.

Cone, who is a prominent and well-to-do young man, claims that it is a case of mistaken identity and that he can prove an alibi.

BLOCKADE OF TAMPICO MAY CAUSE TROUBLE

Likely United States Will Not Recognize Huerta's Effort to Close the Port.

Washington, June 4.—Protests of an attempted blockade of Tampico by Huerta gunboats took the position of chief interest in Mexican affairs here today and administration officials informed of the latest development only in news dispatches, declined to indicate their policy, although they informed Admirals Badger and Mayo of the situation.

It was considered significant, however, that at the state department immediately after Tampico fell into the hands of the constitutionalists, it was announced that all Mexican gulf ports were considered "open" and that was interpreted as an indication that no blockade would be recognized.

The steamer Antilla, bearing arms for Carranza and which has been held about the present situation, flies the Cuban flag. What the United States would do should Huerta gunboats attempt to interfere with her, officials declined to indicate.

Whether the United States ships would permit the Antilla to land her cargo now that the embargo on arms is again in force was another complicating feature, to which officials here did not attempt to offer any explanation.

It became known that Admiral Badger had been called to keep watch on the Mexican federal gunboats in the vicinity of Puerto Mexico, in view of reports from Mexico City that Huerta proposed to prevent, if possible, the landing at Tampico of munitions en route to Carranza.

Naval officers expressed doubt as to whether the Mexican boats could maintain a successful blockade of Tampico with their base of supplies so far removed.

It was generally regarded here as likely that ammunition requirements would reach Tampico unmolested.

Conflicting statements as to the probable attitude of the United States regarding shipments of arms to the Mexican constitutionalists made it difficult to reconcile. Today's developments threw little light on the subject, though in some quarters the view was expressed that the American government would endeavor to prevent the delivery of arms to General Carranza's forces to influence him to incline a favorable ear toward peace proposals at Niagara Falls.

It is pointed out that it would be easy for Admiral Badger to stop any ammunition consignments from reaching Mexican ports if he were ordered to do so, but while officials have asserted the right to stop such shipments at American ports, they have not yet made up their minds to extend that assertion to the high seas so as to prevent the delivery of the goods.

RODGERS NOT GUILTY OF MURDER OF NEGRO

Columbus, Ga., June 4.—J. Rodgers, a prominent white farmer of Muscogee county, was acquitted of the murder of a negro farm hand after the jury had been out fifteen minutes this evening. The evidence was circumstantial. The state's only real witness was a negro who stated that Rodgers told him he had killed Hugh Gould and showed him the body in a corn crib. The body was found a month afterwards in a swamp, a dog having run to a group of children with a human bone in his mouth, and then leading searchers to the corpse. A bullet hole was discovered in the back of the victim's head.

OVER 16,000 ACRES WAS NOT RETURNED FOR TAXES IN TIFT

Tifton, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—The tax equalizers of Tift county have found that there are 14,754 acres of land in the county not returned for taxation.

The board has a chart of all the land in the county and each return is carefully checked off. By this process it was discovered that many acres are missing from the tax books.

It is not the purpose of the board to raise the tax returns, although some of the returns are being raised, while others are being lowered. Tift county ranks 123 in the 147 counties of the state in the height of its land values and the board considers that the returns in this county do not need to be raised. But the board is earnestly endeavoring to equalize the returns that the burden of taxation may fall on all property owners alike.

The astonishing statement is made by the chairman of the board that one-fourth of the real estate and personal property of the county does not appear on the tax books at all.

The board has been at work on the returns at intervals for the past three weeks. The thoroughness with which the work is being done is shown by so much unreturned property being brought to light.

AT THE THEATERS.

Four Reel Thrillers.

(At the Lyric.)

The four little plays being given at the Lyric this week by the Lucille, LaVerne Stock company, promise to be making a real hit, to judge from street comment and the increased attendance. It was rather a bold venture to produce these "thrillers," for they are something distinctly out of the ordinary in stock theatricals, but their success in New York and Philadelphia had been so great that Director Aylsworth was certain they would prove popular here.

The first week, "Mother," a play which gives Miss Lucille an excellent character role, has been chosen.

Jewell Kelley Stock.

(At the Bijou.)

Extraordinary interest is being shown in the opening of the Jewell Kelley summer stock season at the Bijou, which is scheduled to begin next Monday afternoon with a matinee. The company will include all the favorites, Vernon Wallace, Lee Harvey, Earl Higley, T. S. McDonough, Misses Rose Dancel, Florence Hinckley, Marguerite Rosedel and Helen Jackson. The opening bill will be the sensational drama of everyday life, by Fred Summerfield, entitled, "Why Girls Leave Home," in rehearsal since the usual strength which should prove one of the biggest successes of the stock season. Monday night ladies will be admitted free when accompanied by an escort holding a paid 30-cent ticket purchased before 6 o'clock Monday.

"A Million Bid."

(At the Grand.)

"A Million Bid," the magnificent Vitagraph five-reel photo-drama that opened at the Grand theater de luxe last night, is so absorbing that one feels at times that it is not a moving picture being enacted on the screen, but a page from real life.

The staging is near perfection in detail and plot, and it contains a wealth of scenes that are weirdly gripping. It is a film dramatization of George Cameron's famous play, "Agnes," and was directed from the Vitagraph theater in New York, where it enjoyed a run of 306 consecutive performances.

The plot involves a fashion-loving society woman, who, finding herself in financial difficulty, sells her beautiful daughter to an Australian rancher. An impressive love story runs through the play, involving a young physician, and Montana cowboy, and the daughter was broken by the designing mother.

An all-star cast, including Harry T. Morey, James Kent, Gladden James, Anita Stewart, Julia Gordon and E. K. Lincoln, take part in the picture.

Other fine attractions are Miss Jessie Houston, the accomplished singer, and Pathe's weekly, which has covered the interesting return of Theodore Roosevelt from his Brazil exploration. Four performances daily.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Next week's bill at the Forsyth has already been heralded as a corking good one. It includes Elsa Ruger, the noted cellist; Hubert Kinney and Helen Clarke, society dancers, and Mae Ray Mannix, an eccentric dancer, whose act—quite Tanguayish, though it be—has won her a splendid reputation. This week's bill has been received favorably by big houses this week. "The Purple Lady" is a musical and dancing manager that closes the bill with enough ginger and pepper to start an army sneezing. Dane Claudius and Lillian Scarlet have created a big local hit in their novel "Call at the Office," which is the basis for a rendition of old-time favorite songs.

"The Devil's Disciple."

(At the Atlanta.)

The Georgia Tech Drama club will present the senior class in "The Devil's Disciple," by Bernard Shaw, Saturday, June 6. The play is a melodrama, laid in a New England village during the time of the American Revolution. Under the direction of Miss Carolyn Cobb, who is well known in drama circles, local theatergoers are assured a cast and play which promise to be one of the most successful productions of the season. Seats are on sale at the box office Friday and Saturday.

U. S. RESERVE BANKS IN ACTION BY AUGUST 1

Washington, June 4.—With the nominations of the entire federal reserve board expected to be sent to the senate by President Wilson within a few days, Secretary McAdoo, after a conference tonight with the president, announced that the election of directors of the new reserve banks should be completed about July 1 and the banks should be fully organized and ready to begin business about August 1.

The secretary said he had talked with the president about the personnel of the reserve board, but declined to give definite information in this connection. Paul M. Warburg, New York; W. P. G. Harding, Birmingham, Ala., and A. C. Miller, Chicago, have already have accepted membership on the board, leaving two members to be selected.

Chas. S. Hamlin, now assistant secretary of the treasury, and E. C. Simmons, St. Louis, have been mentioned most prominently for the remaining positions. It was intimated in official circles, however, that Mr. Hamlin might not be appointed because of his value in the present position.

Secretary McAdoo gave out a statement during the day in which he said the organization of the 12 banks had progressed rapidly and satisfactorily and was ahead of the schedule mapped out.

"I am highly pleased with the help the banks have given the organization committee in this initial work," he said. "There is a strong disposition to realize the value of the federal reserve act and of the great advantage it will come to the general business of the country from it.

"It is pleasing also to note that the annual scare of tight or insufficient money in the autumn has not appeared this year. There will be no difficulty about providing at the money that may be required to move the crops this fall, no matter how big or record-breaking they may be."

Treasury officials today said New Orleans and several other cities finally had decided to appeal to the federal reserve board against the designation of reserve bank cities.

Directors for St. Louis Bank

St. Louis, June 4.—The St. Louis delegation's attempt to select two directors in class A and one in class B today limited the field to eight men, any of the nominating convention of the St. Louis federal reserve bank will be sure to win its point. The following directors were selected:

Class A—Walker Hill, president of the Mechanics, American National Bank, St. Louis, and Murray Carleton, merchant, St. Louis.

Class B—Breckenridge Jones, president Third National Bank, St. Louis, and W. B. Hunkell, grocer, Little Rock, was not correct. He also declared that some of the testimony given today was not true. The letter involved read:

"I insist in advance that information that has come to me from many quarters in the last year of the fact greatly disregarding statements of narrying again is founded on fact. If that is true, a man can be cursed out in court which you will have the following advantages:

"1. You will be the complainant instead of my suing you. It will be better testimony for divorce. You will have to bring up all the unendurable happenings in your time that have compelled me to leave the same. The contrast between facts and your St. Louis interview will be another very flattering to you. Your letters of 1904 will be introduced, the last in which you praised my foresight for your children, name their faults and your own carelessness in looking after them and you bewail your own neglect of them and beg me to undertake their bringing up and to look after their persons and in addition to give me the highest compliments. I will have to bring these as proofs.

Urges Immediate Suit.

"2. The suit can be brought immediately. You, in that way, make a whole year and can immediately marry again. Otherwise, according to Illinois law, you cannot marry for a year after the divorce. Therefore the matter should be hurried.

"3. You could then control the time for the hearing. Dane Claudius and Lillian Scarlet have created a big local hit in their novel "Call at the Office," which is the basis will be compelled to await the call of your case on the calendar.

"4. You will be compelled to stand a cross-examination on the part of my lawyer.

"5. I will not put in any defense in court.

"6. I will furnish everything necessary for you in order to procure the decree.

"7. It will be in all circumstances more decent and less sensational than a case fought in court before open mouths and ears."

SCHUMANN-HEINK IN DIVORCE COURT

he thought it would be better for his wife to begin action for divorce, was introduced in evidence. After the hearing closed late in the day, Alsop created a commotion in the court room by declaring vehemently to his attorneys and several bystanders that the publication of the letter as introduced by the prosecuting attorney was not correct. He also declared that some of the testimony given today was not true. The letter involved read:

"I insist in advance that information that has come to me from many quarters in the last year of the fact greatly disregarding statements of narrying again is founded on fact. If that is true, a man can be cursed out in court which you will have the following advantages:

Wilburn killed King in order that he might carry on his illicit relations with Mrs. King. Mrs. King and Wilburn were jointly indicted. Mrs. King was cleared of the charge of murder.

Summery Suits

Blue Serge and Others

June sees the summer man step upon the stage of styledom dressed for the part.

It is our cue to set ourselves to see that he is properly fitted for the appearance.

Our planning was done with the realization of what Atlanta citizens want and are entitled to.

Muse clothes for Atlanta men are individualized fashions—standard, so far as American clothes standards apply, but original and different just in so far as Atlanta is distinctive among American cities.

On this special June occasion, may we commend a light-weight, fine quality blue serge suit for a fashion that never fails the world over—for the quality that travels in the same class for far-reaching service.

The elasticity of the blue serge suit service is exampled in the drawing when white trousers make of it another suit.

DROUGHT BREAKING, SAYS WEATHER MAN

All Sections of State Have Fared Better Than Middle Georgia, Where No Rain Has Fallen for Many Days.

Weatherman von Herrmann gave out the highly pleasing information yesterday that the continued drouth is gradually breaking, and that the entire state will soon receive its long-needed share of rain.

Some portions of Georgia have had no rain at all during the present dry spell, while other sections have had a little.

An investigation into weather records Thursday revealed the fact that in middle Georgia there has been no precipitation since the beginning of the present drouth. This area of arid territory extends from Columbus to Macon to Augusta.

Atlanta and adjacent community, however, has had several showers in the past few days, and the prospects are good for plenty more. There have been a few summer showers in southern Georgia, which covered on May 31 and last Wednesday.

North Georgia's first rain fell Wednesday, when there was a general downpour through all this section of the state. Southwest Georgia seems to have fared more luckily than other parts of the state, receiving downfalls on May 27 and 30 and on June 3.

Weather Forecaster von Herrmann stated Thursday that the drouth is gradually breaking. He expected rain Thursday afternoon, but was disappointed.

Unsettled weather conditions are predicted to prevail through the rest of the week, with frequent showers.

HARRISON SAYS DRY MAY HAS NOT HURT COTTON

Washington, June 4.—(Special.)—That the dry weather during May has not only inflicted little damage on the cotton crop of the southeastern states, but, on the other hand, has really been of benefit to the proper growth of the plant, and that a good yield of cotton may be expected with reasonably favorable weather conditions for the remainder of the season, is the belief expressed by President Harrison, of the Southern Railway company, in a statement issued today.

Mr. Harrison's view of the situation is based on reports received from the department of farm improvement work of the Southern, the agents of which are in close touch with farmers and conditions generally throughout the southern territory.

DR. HARDEMAN SPEAKS TO TIFTON S. SCHOOLS

Tifton, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Tifton's Sunday schools held their annual union picnic yesterday. It was a record-breaker, about 2,000 people attending. The Sunday schools of the county had been invited and about 500 of their members were present. The picnic was held at the fair grounds.

In the morning Dr. L. A. Hardeman, who has ceased to drop in that day, was called on and made a short Sunday school talk, in which he urged Sunday school work along practical lines that would benefit the people into the Sunday schools and church. He did not mention politics.

MEDICAL SCHOLARS ARE BEING EXAMINED

Augusta, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Four members of the State Board of Medical Examiners are in Augusta conducting an examination for the benefit of the graduating class of the medical department of the University of Georgia. The members of the board who are here are President J. W. Palmer, M. D., of Alley; Vice President A. Fleming, M. D., of Waycross; Dr. P. D. Patterson, of Cuthbert, and Dr. O. B. Walker, of Boston. The examinations were begun yesterday and continued through today.

BULLDOGS WORTH $2,000 LOSE LIVES IN BLAZE

The dog kennels at the home of F. M. Galbraith, Kirkwood, caught fire Thursday morning, and nine bulldogs valued at $2,000 were burned to death.

A strange coincidence of fate lies in the fact that the former owner of the dogs, Mrs. Louise Schriver, mother of Mrs. Galbraith, met death in a similar way one year ago.

Only two of the dogs were saved. These had been carried into the house to protect Mrs. Galbraith during Wednesday night while her husband was away.

AUGUSTA ENCAMPMENT MAY NOT MATERIALIZE

Washington, June 4.—Plans for the projected army encampment at Augusta, Ga., have been thrown into an indefinite state because of the Mexican situation and the lack of assurance that regular troops will be available. It is probable that the only maneuver camp this summer will be at Tobyhana, Pa.

NORWOOD PROTESTS AT CUT IN MAIL SERVICE

Norwood, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Norwood, Ga., and surrounding country, representing the three rural routes eminating from Norwood, met for the purpose of taking action in regard to the act of the Georgia railroad in discontinuing mail service on night trains Nos. 3 and 4.

Strong resolutions were passed and copies sent the general manager of the road, Hon. C. M. Wickersham, to the railroad commission, both senators, congressman, postmaster general and superintendent of railway mail service.

The people feel very much worried at the action of the Georgia road in regard to mail and trust that speedily they will remedy the matter.

FAMILY FEAR MURDER BY ESCAPED LUNATIC

May Try to Carry Out Threats Made Before Going to Milledgeville.

Macon, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—The Macon police are searching for Charles Bedingfield, of Wadley, who escaped recently from a private sanitarium at Milledgeville, his family fearing that if he finds his way home he will kill all of them and then commit suicide. Bedingfield had made threats of this kind and it was for that reason that he was placed in the Milledgeville institution.

It is said that Bedingfield was seen at the Stevens Pottery, near Macon, last Tuesday and is still thought to be in Macon.

Banquet for Felder's Friends.

Macon, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Friends of Thomas S. Felder, candidate for the United States senate, are to gather at a dinner to be given Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the Hotel Lanier, to discuss the progress of his campaign and to make plans for future work. A couple of hundred invitations have been sent out and it is expected that there will be a good attendance. Mr. Felder will be present and make a report of the progress of his campaign up to the present time.

Macon Bar Backs Hodges.

Macon, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—A petition signed by 101 members of the Macon Bar association has been sent to Governor Slaton asking him to reappoint Judge Robert Hodges to the bench of the city court of Macon, where he has served since 1902 in a most satisfactory manner. Only three Macon lawyers refused to sign the petition.

The lawyers, in their petition, pay Judge Hodges a high tribute, declaring him to be the equal of any judge in the state and without a superior in the administration of the law, and declare that his appointment will meet the cordial and hearty approval of the people of Bibb county.

Daly Out for Re-election.

Macon, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Judge Augustin Daly, the first judge of Macon's new municipal court, who was elected last fall for a term of one year, will be a candidate to succeed himself. The man elected this year will serve for a three-year term. It is believed that Judge Daly will have opposition in the person of Lloyd Moore, a well-known attorney, who ran against Judge Daly before, and was beaten by only 200 votes.

WITH BOTH ARMS GONE, HE MASTERS SHORTHAND

Baltimore, June 4.—Though both arms were severed within three inches of the shoulders six years ago, David T. Jones, of this city, has mastered stenography. With the aid of several rubber bands to fasten a pencil or pen holder to the right arm he is able to write in an exceptionally neat manner.

Jones, who is 20 years old, met with the accident which necessitated amputation of both arms while he was working on a steel structure. Afterward he became ag omnivorous reader and his intention is to make use of shorthand in the rough drafting of literary articles.

A New Phase of the White Sale

Neckwear, Ribbons and Handkerchiefs, Representative of the Moment's Styles, at Savings of a Third and a Half.

Let us tell you what we think of this Sale of Neckwear, Ribbons and Handkerchiefs—

It is all that we had hoped to make it when we first set to planning the White Sale—it is even more. We started with the proposition that we should get the most desirable and most stylish things that were to be had or there would be no sale.

We have got the most desirable and most stylish things—in neck fixings, handkerchiefs and ribbons—and at savings of a third to a half.

How it was possible to get such merchandise is not so interesting to you as the fact that the merchandise is here and every bit of it as fresh as the dew-besprinkled morning glory. There is not a collar, a handkerchief, a yard of ribbon listed below that is not worthy of a place in our regular stocks at the prices we quote them to be worth. Indeed, the worth price tells just what they are.

Could anything be more timely, then, than this sale?

So we think of this sale—it is most unusual, but you come, see, take the time to study and compare and judge for yourself and see how our opinions coincide.

We warrant you will see the wisdom of securing all of these things you will need during the whole summer.

The Fine Neckwear

25c, Values 50c The embroidered linen collars featuring the low-neck styles. Gladstone, Byron—practically every wanted style—some embroidered in white, some in colors.

29c, Values 50c & 75c Many most attractive shapes of Dutch collars—in lace, net, batiste and combinations of these, cream ecru and white—all washable.

39c, Value 50c Crepe de chine Windsor ties, so favored right now; practically every wanted color—pink, blues, rose, gray, tango, peach, gold, wistaria, black and white.

59c, Values 75c & $1.25 Lace and net fichus, Medici collars, scores of styles; fresh and new; cream, white and ecru; lace-trimmed and embroidered collar and cuff sets.

$1.00, Values $1.50 & $2.00 Summery collars of organdie, batiste and net, lace and embroidery trimmed, white and cream; others embroidered in delicate colors—hosts of charming styles.

The Handkerchiefs

17c, Regularly 25c Women's sheer all-linen hemstitched with hand-embroidered florals and wreaths in corner—some eight patterns.

29c, Regularly 50c Women's all-linen sheer, double hemstitched and edged with daintiest real Armenian lace; all-linen embroidered corners. Eight patterns. The work is exceptionally elaborate.

Other Novel Handkerchiefs but not underpriced—

At 25c of Shamrock lawn, white centers with colored borders 2 inches wide, showing dainty flowers; another at the same price has a colored center with hem 2 inches wide, in pink, light blue and lavender, smart. Another is the new organdie handkerchief, 2-inch white hem, colored centers.

At 17c of Shamrock lawn, embroidered corners, 2-inch hem.

The Ribbons

In the face of the greatest demand, we have been able to effect price reductions that are indeed remarkable. Such ribbons as are listed below are very hard to get. The reason is that they are the most desirable, the most stylish right now.

See them, note quality of the silks, then the patterns, and reflect if you have ever seen such ribbons at these prices.

29c, Regularly 50c yd. Hair bow widths of brocaded satins and taffetas, moires, in white, pink and light blue.

49c, Regularly 85c yd. Sash widths to match the above; brocaded satins and taffetas, moires, white, pink and light blue.

Novelties in Ribbons

but not underpriced, are these new Roman striped and plaid ribbons wanted for girdles for white dresses. Priced at 50c to $2.00 a yard.

Arrangements for the convention of the Photographers' Association of America in Atlanta the week of June 15 have been completed, and the program for the gathering, which will be the largest in the history of the organization, has been announced.

It is expected that twelve or thirteen hundred delegates will be in attendance upon the meeting, which will last six days. These men will come from all parts of the United States.

The main meetings of the convention will be held in the Auditorium-Armory. In addition to the business meetings various exhibits have been arranged by the manufacturers of the various products used in photography, as well as exhibits of the work of some of those attending the convention.

There will be demonstrations of negative making, and of photographic paper, of the use of the air brush and other demonstrations interesting to photographers Tuesday.

On Wednesday, after a continuation of the demonstrations, there will be given an old-fashioned barbecue, the compliments of the local dealers and photographers.

Thursday will be given over to further technical discussions. Friday will occur the election of officers for the association for the coming year, and the other formal business.

In the afternoon the exhibits at the Auditorium will be thrown open to the public, and all who are interested in photography will be invited to inspect the display.

T. S. FELDER DELIVERS ADDRESSES IN SUMTER

Americus, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Thomas S. Felder, candidate for the senate, delivered here this afternoon the first address of the current political campaign. Appearing before a large audience which accorded him an enthusiastic greeting, the speaker declared himself upon various issues and administered a drubbing to Governor Slaton, whom he charged with holding the gubernatorial chair, the executive and pardoning power, while offering for another office, while he (Felder) had resigned an office and was making a square out fight.

Felder's address was well received and his presence here created an excellent impression. He visited other towns in Sumter county this evening in a general handshaking tour.

TWO CHILDREN STRUCK BY COLUMBUS TROLLEY

Columbus, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Sol Yestner, three-year-old, and Dorothy, aged two years, children of B. M. Yestner, had a narrow escape from death today on Rose Hill when they ran immediately in front of a street car.

The little boy was knocked down and a gash cut in his scalp. He rolled under the car and was within a foot of the front axle when the car was stopped. His injuries were painful but will hardly prove serious. The little girl's clothing caught in the coupling of the car when she fell, she was suspended by her clothing and was not injured at all.

Woman Who Was Tried For Husband's Murder Suing for Insurance

An echo of the Appelbaum death mystery was heard in Atlanta yesterday when it became known that Mrs. Callie Scott Appelbaum, who was tried and acquitted on the charge of murdering her husband, had filed suit against the Standard Life Insurance company for $10,000, alleging that amount to be due her from the insurance claim of her deceased husband. She is represented by the firm of Moore & Branch, the attorneys who conducted her defense at the famous murder trial.

Appelbaum was slain in the Dakota hotel March a year ago. His wife was arrested on the scene.

NO ACTION IS TAKEN ON THE MONEY SHEET

Fifth Warders May Fight to Retain $6,500 Appropriation for Engine House.

Withdrawing $6,500 apportioned to the fifth ward in January for an engine house and an effort to take at least $10,000 from the South Pryor street improvement fund, loom up today as the most formidable obstacles council will have to surmount before the June budget is adopted.

Action on the finance sheet was deferred yesterday when several members of council declared that they were not fully informed as to all the items and changes proposed by the finance committee, and on the suggestion of Alderman James W. Maddox council adjourned until next Monday to decide on what sort of a sheet is best adapted to the needs of the city.

In the meantime the finance committee will endeavor to work out the differences which have split the committee in two factions, and if a majority agree on one sheet it will probably be given preference at the next meeting.

Indications Thursday were that the fifth ward is not entirely in sympathy now with the scheme to recall the $6,500 from the fund for the erection of a fire house in that ward. When the finance committee proposed taking the money from the ward Councilman Jesse B. Lee was assured that the money would be replaced in the October sheet. Now, it seems, the fifth ward delegation figures that a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, and are going to hold on to the fire engine house money or hold up the sheet.

Immediately after council adjourned Thursday afternoon Alderman C. H. Kelley, of the second ward, vice chairman of the finance committee, called the members of the committee together, but as there were only six of the ten members present no attempt was made to work out a solution. Chairman W. G. Humphrey is still absent from the city.

FRANK CASE MOTION WILL BE HEARD TODAY

Solicitor Dorsey Will Enter Demurrer to Motion to Reverse Verdict, It Is Stated.

The stage has been set for the Frank case motion to upset the verdict of guilty, which will commence this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Ben Hill in the capitol.

Solicitor Dorsey has announced that the state's case is in readiness, and that there are no prospects for further continuance of the long-delayed battle.

It is stated that Solicitor Dorsey the hotel will demur to the motion to reverse the verdict. In this event, arguments will be necessary before any further action can be taken. A big battle will be waged by both the prosecution and defense.

The motion was presented by John L. Tye, of the law firm of Tye, Peeples & Jordan, and requests that the verdict of guilty be set aside because Frank was not present when the verdict was read.

Should Judge Hill deny the motion it will be carried to the supreme court, and in case of failure in that tribunal, a fight will be made in the United States supreme court.

TECH COMMITTEES BUSY AT CANVASS

Important Announcement of Results Are Expected to Be Made on Next Sunday.

The committees for the Greater Tech campaign have begun their work quietly among the business men of Atlanta, and definite results are expected soon. It was predicted at the luncheon meeting at the Piedmont yesterday that important announcements regarding the campaign will be made Sunday.

Stirring speeches were made to the committeemen at the luncheon meeting at noon by B. M. Hall, chairman of one of the working committees; K. G. Matheson, president of Tech; J. R. A. Hobson, chairman of the executive committee, and P. V. Stephens, director of the campaign.

"When I was asked to take charge of a committee in this campaign," said Mr. Hall, "I felt I could not possibly spare the time from my business that an undertaking of this kind requires. Since that time, however, I have had a talk with my conscience, and the two of us have decided that I cannot afford to refuse to give my time to a movement of the importance and necessity of this one."

President Matheson emphasized the fact that Tech, for the reason that it is an established institution, has a greater claim on the citizens of Atlanta than if it were a scheme on paper.

"Tech can point to twenty-six years of active work in Atlanta," he said, "and she has a right to ask from the citizens of Atlanta, who have seen the work she has accomplished, their support of plans made to increase her usefulness."

J. R. A. Hobson, chairman of the executive committee, warned the workers against discouragements, pointing to some of the greatest successes in Atlanta's history, and recent history, that were beset with disappointments on every hand at their beginning.

Mr. Stephens, director of the campaign, stressed the fact that the campaign is to be carried on in a business-like manner, and asked the co-operation of the workers to that end. The campaign is not to be a hit and miss affair, according to him, but a systematic and efficient enterprise, carried out in an orderly manner.

All the committeemen are being urged by the leaders to attend the luncheon meetings at the Piedmont hotel.

LOCAL AD MEN PREPARE FOR TRIP TO TORONTO

The last dinner of the Ad Men before the delegation leaves for Toronto was held yesterday in the main dining room of the Ansley hotel. It was well attended, and there the On-To-Toronto committee reported the arrangements so far made for the trip, to the Ad Men.

Satisfactory hotel accommodations have been made in Toronto, and the Georgia delegation will be well taken care of, according to the report of St. Elmo Massengale, chairman of the On-To-Toronto committee.

A. R. Rogers, of Boston, Mass., a special commissioner from Boston to Atlanta on behalf of the mammoth pure food show to be held there in October, in a short speech extended the invitation to the Ad Men of Atlanta to participate in the show, and to get behind a movement to have Georgia participate. A committee was appointed consisting of L. D. Hicks, J. D. Karney and William F. Parkhurst to look into the matter.

All of the Ad Men will wear Palm Beach suits and white shoes during the trip and convention in Toronto.

Dr. J. D. Kennedy, city health officer, made a talk on summer "Don'ts," offering a number of suggestions on good health during the hot weather.

Storm Halts Guests Returning to Homes By Auto After Wedding

Several guests of a wedding at Fairburn, Ga., Wednesday night were stalled in their machines in the mud when the storm broke on their return to Atlanta, and the ladies and gentlemen in the cars were forced to trudge some distance through the storm in evening clothes to take refuge on the car line which runs between College Park and Fairburn.

The occasion was the wedding of Miss Hope McClarin, daughter of a prominent citizen of Fairburn, and Dr. Haynes, of Starke, Fla.

Among those in the automobiles that were stuck in the mud of the road were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown, Grant street; Mrs. C. L. Camp, No. 364 Lee street; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Camp and two children, South avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Seaborn Howell, College Park; Mrs. Paul Selman, Douglasville.

SMOKE BOARD MEMBERS ARE READY TO RESIGN

Essig and Harwell Say That Commission Is Not Getting the Proper Support.

Declaring that the mayor and council are not giving the smoke and gas commission the support it should have to cope with the smoke nuisance in Atlanta, R. M. Harwell, chairman of the board, and Chris Essig, a member, are ready to resign.

Chairman Harwell has practically tendered his resignation. He called on Mayor Woodward and frankly informed the city's chief executive that the smoke board was not getting the co-operation it needs from council. Both Messrs. Harwell and Essig say that their time is worth more to their business than to the city under existing conditions.

"The mayor and council are not giving the board the aid it deserves," said Commissioner Essig. "Instead of co-operating, council is hampering the work we are trying to accomplish. My time is too valuable to worry away in a work which the general council seems determined to handicap in every way."

Commissioner Essig explained that Inspector Poole is doing magnificent work and stated that if the city loses him it will not get another man better qualified for the work.

Not content with cutting the appropriation down to almost nothing in January, the finance committee failed to provide money to pay the salary of an assistant which the board recommended to assist Inspector Poole in the inspection of boilers and other added duties.

At the last regular meeting of council Councilman Lee offered an ordinance proposing the abolition of the smoke board.

Brilliant Opening of Season At Capital City Country Club

The opening of the social summer season at the Capital City Country club last evening proved to be a beautiful and brilliant occasion, concluding with dinner served last night and a dance following.

Early in the afternoon many of the members went out for golf; the ladies joined them, and there were tea parties, who watched the younger people swimming and boating and a group playing tennis.

The entire club house was decorated for the occasion, and there was music from 5 o'clock on through the evening. The terraces back of the clubhouse made a pretty approach to the lake. Later, when the lights of hundreds of Japanese lanterns shone out around the lake, and the orchestra played the bacarolle from "Tales From Hoffman," it was a beautiful setting for a "Venetian Love Song," or any other kind of love song.

Dinner was served on the porch overlooking the terraces, and each table was lovely with flowers. The menu reflected credit on the cuisine and management, and the occasion throughout was a most successful one.

The approach to the club yesterday was most interesting. The trees forming the driveway to the entrance to the club have grown; the lawns on each side were smooth and green, and the scene of the guests arriving, and one machine after another depositing its gay parties made the scene one of pleasureable activity.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Gentry were among those entertaining. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Inman entertained the members of the governing board of the club and their wives. Many visitors added to the interest of the occasion. Of those entertaining a partial list follows:

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kiser, Mr. and Mrs. John Kiser, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, who entertained for Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Leach; Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Holland, Mr. and Mrs. J. Miss Stockard was a charming hostess wearing a white lingerie gown with girdle and sash of pink taffeta.

Dr. A. M. Hughlett performed the ceremony and only members of the immediate families were present. There were no attendants.

The bride was lovely in her traveling gown, a combination of black and white made coat effect. Her black hat was trimmed in white and she carried lilies of the valley.

Mr. Head and his bride left immediately for a wedding trip of several weeks north. They will be at home to their friends at the bride's parents on West Peachtree street.

Pink snap dragons and quantities of gardenias beautifully decorated the rooms. Mrs. John Woodside won the prize, silk stockings, for the top score and the honor guests were each given pretty gauze fans.

Miss Bush was cheered to the echo by the appreciative audience when she sang "He Loves Me," a song of the billowy ocean over which the sailor boy rides, by Chadwick. Miss Buchanan's selection, "If I Had Your Wings, O Nightingale," was liberally applauded.

"The Shoogy-Shoo," by Mayhew, sung by 8 ladies' double quartet, with Miss Bush taking the leading role, proved fascinating, possessing an Oriental charm.

TECH COMMENCEMENT WILL START TONIGHT

Debate of Literary Society at Y. M. C. A. Will Be First Event.

The commencement exercises of Georgia Tech will begin tonight with the debate of the literary society at the Tech Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

The debate is an annual feature of commencement and is under the auspices of the Henry W. Grady Literary society. The debaters are selected from among the best produced each year by the society and the debates are interesting. The speakers this year will be J. W. Cox, H. E. Tucker, R. L. Bidwell and G. W. Tuten.

The question which will be debated tonight is "Shall Municipalities Own and Operate Public Service Utilities." Cox and Tucker will speak on the affirmative and Bidwell and Tuten will defend the negative.

With the commencement exercises which are beginning a number of novel features will be included. Foremost among these will be the Georgia league pageant by the undergraduates and a number of the alumni of the school. This will be held Tuesday afternoon and practically every student in the college will take part in it.

Wierd and mysterious are the costumes which have been designed and will be worn by the students taking part in the pageant, and the dramatic productions to be a part of it are even more wierd and even more mysterious.

Grand opera, with Caruso, Farrar, Melba represented by Jack Hountree, "Dutch" Coleman and Ed Connor, respectively, as well as a number of others, will be a striking feature of the pageant.

Dancing will also will be among the offerings. The headliners will be the Smith Brothers, a scientific whirling galaxy of star performers, consisting of Trayvicks, who is inclined to adiposity, and Brandon, whose many friends claim is a living demonstration of perpetual motion.

The wearers of the "T" among the alumni will take part in the pageant, in some activities they have as yet not divulged.

After the performances on the campus the entire collection of performers will take part in a parade through the principal streets of Atlanta.

STREET CAR TRACKS ON PRYOR REFUSED

Aldermen Believed Congestion During Rush Hours Would Result.

Because members believe that a street car track on Pryor street, between Edgewood avenue and Decatur, will cause a congestion of traffic during the rush hours of the afternoon, the aldermanic board yesterday turned down the application of the Georgia Railway and Power company for a franchise.

The franchise was asked for as a "loop" or continuation of the Decatur cars. At present the Edgewood and Decatur cars come into the city and stop in front of the Kiser building to discharge passengers and take them on. The railway company believed that by getting a franchise from the city to run a line into Pryor street and make the terminus a point between Decatur and Edgewood it would relieve conditions. But the aldermanic board would not grant the proposition in that way, and a majority voted against the franchise which was approved by council.

The board also turned down the claim of C. R. Garner for $150 damages. City Attorney Ellis approved paying Garner $150 rather than take the case to court.

The board also refused to concur in council's favorable action on the resolution granting a quit claim deed to J. R. Ellis on the property at No. 230 Spring street.

Needs of Tenth Ward Will Be Considered At Meeting Friday

A meeting of the Tenth Ward Civic Improvement league will be held in Capitol View Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the needs of the ward. Many matters of importance will be discussed and complete reports from the various committees of the league are expected.

The question of repaving Stewart avenue interests every citizen living in the vicinity of the same, inasmuch as the money set aside for that purpose out of the January appropriation sheet has not been spent, and the street is in almost impassable condition in places.

The crowded condition of the George W. Adair school makes it imperative that the citizens of the tenth ward get busy.

Other questions will be open for discussion, and citizens from all parts of the ward are requested to attend this meeting.

MRS. ANNA E. GRAMLING DIED THURSDAY MORNING

Porter, and by three sisters, Mrs. R. T. Talley, and Misses Rachel and Rella Porter. She was a member of the First Methodist church.

CANTALOUPE SHIPMENTS TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Pelham, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Cantaloupe growers here state that express shipments of cantaloupes will begin the first of next week and there will possibly be a few crates shipped Friday or Saturday. The first shipment was made last year on June 10. Watermelons will begin moving about June 18 to 20.

A good rain, the first in nearly a month, fell here yesterday afternoon and growers of cantaloupes and melons are feeling very good over it. Both of these crops have been badly damaged by the dry weather.

Rome Woman's Club.

Rome, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—At the annual meeting of the Woman's Club of Rome yesterday officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Mrs. W. Van Hoose, president; Mrs. W. M. Henry, first vice president; Mrs. John C. Pritzup, second vice president; Mrs. Lindsay Johnson, third vice president; Miss Cordelia Veal, recording secretary; Mrs. L. D. Sledge, assistant secretary; Miss Lula Harris, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. S. Sparks, treasurer; Mrs. John H. Reynolds, auditor. The club was reorganized a year ago after a period of inactivity, and during the past twelve months has been a leading factor in all club activities. The treasurer's report showed that funds to the amount of $1,050 had been collected during the past year. Of this a part was expended in work for schools and charities. A building fund has been started, and the club expects to erect its own home at an early date.

SHRINERS' CONVENTION ADVERTISED ATLANTA

That the Shrine convention has been the greatest advertising medium Atlanta has ever had, is the testimony of L. S. Pennybacker, secretary of the American Roads congress, who was in the city Thursday arranging for the meeting of the congress here in October.

Atlanta, he said, has been made known to the world as a convention city, and that this was probably her greatest and most profitable achievement.

Mr. Pennybacker declared that 30,000 invitations had been mailed, and that he expected at least 5,000 delegates to the congress. The exhibition of road-building machinery will be held at the Auditorium.

SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING TONIGHT

The Atlanta Scottish association will hold a meeting tonight at their hall in the Kiser building. The following notice has been mailed out by A. Urquhkank, chief, and W. A. Somerville, secretary:

"Each member of our organization kens fu' weel that the first Friday nicht of each month is oor regular meetin', therefore to ca' your attention to this is not necessary. At the same time we would remind you that at the Kiser biggin, of the eve of June 5, at aucht o'clock, a' Scots will gather in conclave to consider business of grave import to the best interests o' oor organization."

Homely, Yet Admired and Envied; Her Secret

The convention crowd made a path for her, cast admiring side glances, then with longing eyes followed her to the elevator. It was at the Pemchartrain in Detroit. The incident was recalled when I chanced to sit across table from the woman. What was it about her that caused all that commotion? Her complexion. Really, I've never beheld its equal. Venturing to pick up acquaintanceship, I learned the secret.

"I've tried to make the most of my one charm," she said. "I know men abhor make-ups and artificiality. I bar cosmetics; there are two things I use to promote natural loveliness and youthful appearance. When my complexion begins to age, I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drugstore, apply at night like cold cream, wash it off in the morning. This gradually flakes off the outer skin, then I have a brand new complexion, magnetically beautiful, as you see.

"Wrinkles never bother me. At their inception I bathe my face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. It works like magic."—Mona Morrow in Tattler.—(Adv.)

Less Cottolene is required than butter or lard

Prove this claim for yourself. Take any favorite recipe that calls for shortening. Use Cottolene instead of butter or lard, only take one-third less Cottolene. Just try it and see if you do not have equally as good if not better results, when using Cottolene.

Do this every time you cook and you will notice a difference in your grocery bills.

Foods made with Cottolene are more wholesome and digest more easily than those made with ordinary shortenings.

Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill's Opinion:

"For several years I have used Cottolene in my own kitchen and find it very satisfactory. I am glad to commend it."

Why not begin today the use of Cottolene? Every housewife will be interested in our valuable FREE Cook Book, HOME HELPS, compiled by Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln and four other cookery experts.

SHE GAVE UP ALL HER WORK

On Account of Her Weakness, But Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, Brought Back Strength.

Summit, Va.—Mrs. Leonora Walker, of this place, has the following to say regarding her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic: "Before I began to take Cardui, I suffered with womanly troubles, and, also, with what I thought was stomach trouble. I was so weak, I had to give up all my housework; and could not do any of the cooking.

I commenced taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and after the third day I began to feel better. Have now used five bottles, and am well, and can do all of my housework and cooking by myself. In fact, I feel like a new woman.

I shall be only too glad to do anything I can, to help praise the Cardui Home Treatment, for it is so good for suffering women. I shall never be without it."

For over half a century, Cardui has been helping to build weak, nervous, tired-out women, back to strength and health. It goes to the seat of the trouble and builds up womanly strength where it is most needed.

Cardui may be the very medicine your system has long been needing. Get a bottle from your druggist today. It cannot harm you, and should surely do for you what it has done for so many thousands of others.

DENTISTS GATHER IN ANNUAL SESSION

Will Be Last Southern Convention — Delegates Vote to Merge With the National Organization.

The joint convention of the southern branch of the National Dental association and the Georgia State Dental society opened Thursday morning at the Hotel Ansley with 250 delegates in attendance.

Dr. John F. Purser, of Atlanta, delivered the invocation at the opening exercises. Governor Slaton gave the address of welcome, which was enthusiastically appreciated by the dental surgeons. Response was made by

DR. EDWARD G. TIGNER,
President of Georgia State Dental Society.

Dr. B. Holly Smith, of Baltimore, a prominent national speaker among the dentists.

Dr. W. A. Dean, of Tampa, Fla., president of the southern branch, delivered the annual address of the president. Dr. J. G. Reid, of Marion, N. C., spoke on "Preventive Medicine in Dentistry." Dr. S. M. Meyers, of Waco, Texas, made a talk on "Dental Golds." These addresses were followed by general discussion by the delegates.

Dr. B. Holly Smith, in his address, declared that the carelessness of man in caring for his teeth was resulting in his degeneration, adding that it was less harmful to a person to drink alcohol than to let his teeth decay. His suggestion was that the cities establish dental infirmaries for the poor, and that the dental surgeons in charge be paid salaries. He placed special stress on the care of the school child's teeth.

Afternoon Session.

At the afternoon meeting Dr. Homer C. Brown, of Columbus, Ohio, president of the National Dental association, spoke on "The Status of Our Dental Organizations." In his address Dr. Brown made the recommendation that the southern branch be merged into the national association and that the state society become a component of the association.

This recommendation was freely discussed pro and con, but finally resulted in a unanimous vote in its favor. The southern branch, therefore, will conduct no more independent conventions, and the state society will have a "house of delegates" in the national convention.

Dr. W. L. Carson, of Moultrie, Ga., spoke on "Oral Hygiene." Dr. I. N. Carr, of Durham, N. C., addressed the delegates on "The Violet Ray High Frequency in Dentistry."

At the night session Dr. Carroll H. Frink, of Jacksonville, Fla., read a special essay on "Surgery of the Mouth, Teeth and Jaws," illustrated with enlarged models, drawings, lantern slides and clay modeling.

Three sessions will be held today, the clinics taking place this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Dr. B. Holly Smith will speak this morning on "The Responsibility of the Members of the aDntal Profession to Those Who Are Without Opportunity for Dental Treatment."

The Georgia society is acting as host to the southern branch. Dr. E. A. Turner, of Milledgeville, Ga., is president of the state society.

CHIEF TO INVESTIGATE IVY STREET REPORTS

Beavers Says Police Will Not Permit the Operation of Disreputable Houses.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers, in discussing the Ivy street episodes of Tuesday and Wednesday nights, declared that he was going to do his sworn duty as an officer of the law in regard to the alleged houses of illrepute on that street.

"My vice-squad is sufficient to take care of the situation, and in short order I expect them to investigate the rumors, and if they are true, find sufficient evidence against the places, to close them. I am not going to permit disreputable women to slip around on the sly into descent neighborhoods, or anywhere else, and carry o nthe trade of prostitution."

The man and woman arrested at 134-A Ivy street Wednesday night were fined $25.75 by Judge Nash Broyles in police court Thursday afternoon. The woman, according to the testimony, was but a bride of two weeks' duration, and she was trailed to this house by her husband, who saw her enter with her companion, and then had the plainclothes officers on the beat arrest her.

The woman who ran the house failed to appear in court, and her collateral of $50.75 was forfeited. Judge Broyles ordered that papers be sworn out in the city criminal court against the woman for running a disorderly house, and that she be ordered to move.

It was rumored during Thursday around police headquarters that complaints by Ivy street residents had been made against three houses in that neighborhood, but Chief Beavers denied that this was true. He did state that his men were on their guard, and that the law would be enforced to the letter as fast as the evidence could be gathered.

Chief Beavers said dthat he had asked the cooperation of the property owners and real estate renting houses not to let out their houses to parties of disreputable characters, and that this request was continuously violated, he would begin to bring suit against them, as they are amendable to the wall also.

Col. J. T. Van Orsdale Believes U. S. Must Interfere in Mexico

That the United States will ultimately find it necessary to intervene in Mexico for the permanent establishment of peace is the prediction of Colonel J. T. Van Orsdale, former commander of the Seventeenth infantry, who is now in Atlanta after several months' stay in Florida.

"I do not believe that the outcome of the A. B. C. mediation will be satisfactory," he said, "and it looks very much as if the United States will have to go into Mexico and establish a government and see that it is maintained until the Mexican people are capable of self-government."

Colonel and Mrs. Van Orsdale are stopping at the Piedmont hotel. They declared that they are very glad to be back in Atlanta and to see their old friends again.

ROCKEFELLER PARSON STIRS UNION WOMEN

Cleveland, Ohio, June 4.—Mrs. Albert H. Gilbert, president of the Home Protection Equal Suffrage club has issued a call to wives of Cleveland union men to meet and march on the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, known as the Rockefeller church, as a protest to a sermon preached last Sunday by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. W. Bustard, in which he upheld John D. Rockefeller in refusing to act in the Colorado mine trouble.

The executive committee of the club will meet today to decide on which Sunday the women will march on the church.

According to Mrs. Gilbert these questions will be asked of Dr. Bustard at the service.

"What is the relation of Christ to the union?" and "Are the Colorado mines conducted as Christ would have them conducted?"

DEATH OF W. W. DUKE CAUSE OF GRIEF HERE

The tragic death of Woodward W. Duke, the son of J. B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco company, has caused grief in Atlanta, where he was well known. He was drowned Wednesday, when his canoe overturned in a mountain creek near Park City, Utah.

He was the only son of Mrs. Minnie Woodward Duke, formerly of Durham, N. C., the second wife of J. B. Duke. She now resides in Pasadena, Cal. Young Duke was loved among many Atlantans, whom he visited frequently. He was a student at Princeton at the time of his death. He had been planning to make an automobile tour south and to spend much time in this city.

J. Randolph Anderson Will Open Campaign By Marietta Speech

J. Randolph Anderson, of Savannah, candidate for governor, will deliver the opening speech of his campaign in the courthouse at Marietta tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. It is reported there will be a good attendance from Cobb and adjoining counties to hear him.

Mr. Anderson has long owned a farm in Cobb county, where he spends much of his time during the summer, and it was largely owing to the fact that one of his homes is in Cobb that his many friends there invited him to come to Marietta for his opening address.

In this opening speech Mr. Anderson will clearly define his position on the important state issues, and, among other things, will have an interesting statement to make relative to his attitude toward the Western and Atlantic railroad, the state's property. Mr. Anderson expects to follow this address with speeches in other sections of the state as occasion will permit, and will make it a point to see and talk with all the voters possible prior to the state primary of August 19.

SAVANNAH COMMISSION MAY NOT PUT UP FIGHT

Savannah, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Because there is a division among the members of the commission named to have charge of the construction of Savannah's $600,000 house drainage system, it is doubtful today whether the right of city council to dismiss the commissioners will be tested in the courts. Following council's aggressive stand last week, when all of the commissioners were removed by ordinance, it was generally understood that the commissioners would make a legal fight against their removal, but a poll of the commissioners indicates that they are not agreed upon a plan of procedure.

HE WILLED MILLIONS WHEN HE HAD NOTHING

New York, June 4.—David H. Moffat, railroad builder and at the time of his death on March 18, 1911, rated as a multi-millionaire, died comparatively poor, if property and securities left by him in New York are to be taken as a fair basis of estimate.

The report of the appraisal of Mr. Moffat's estate filed yesterday showed that by his will he had made bequests of several millions of dollars, whereas the estate is now indebted to the National Bank of Commerce for $100,000, due on a loan amounting to $200,000.

Kryptok Bifocals

Why we make Kryptok Bifocals and recommend them. First of all, because of their convenience. They give Near and Far Vision in one solid glass, doing away with two pairs of glasses. They can be more perfectly ground than any other bifocal known, no ugly seams or pieces to blister or come loose. We make them in Toric or Curved form, giving a larger field both for reading and distance. Each pair is made to order, conforming to the face in every detail. Your best friend would never know you have on bifocals. They are absolutely invisible while on the face. They are a joy, not a discomfort. Ask some of our patients how they are pleased.

ABOVE ALL ELSE—ACTION!

The house committee on agriculture has agreed to report favorably the Lever bill regulating cotton exchanges. The Lever measure, or other measures substantially embodying its principles, has for some years been pending in house and senate. The abuses of the New York Cotton Exchange, and the manner in which it takes toll of farmer and cotton factor, is an old story. Honest and demagogic efforts toward a remedy have been stretching over a long period of years.

Results have been nil, except at intervals to induce a hypocritical bluff at reform on part of the New York institution.

Regulation should be undertaken in no spirit of baiting, bitterness, persecution or grandstanding. It should be recognized that hedging is a legitimate function of all exchanges, and that the abolition of the exchanges in this country will mean control of our cotton industry abroad. All that is needed is expressed in the simple statement of the Vicksburg Cotton Exchange, and that is a "fair and honest cotton contract."

AN IMPENDING CATACLYSM.

One of the most amazing chapters in all history is comprised in the state of semi-anarchy to which the militant suffragettes have reduced Great Britain, the storm-center being located in London. News now comes that the authorities are absolutely powerless. Imprisonment as a remedy or a deterrent is a burlesque. The women forthwith go on a hunger strike. Rather than let them starve the authorities temporarily release them, when forthwith they resume their raids and assaults.

Mrs. Pankhurst is now installed in a house opposite Buckingham palace, keeping the king under surveillance. The king himself is afraid to venture out, lest he meet with indignity, even bodily injury, at the hands of these termagant women. Priceless pictures continue to be slashed. The "arson squad" is at work, and the police watch helplessly, not knowing when or where next to expect an outbreak.

The astounding and dangerous feature is that the women appear absolutely indifferent as to whether they live or die. They have become obsessed with an idea. They are no longer responsible, mentally. Believing their cause justifies martyrdom, they cheerfully court that end. The mischief of it all is that the virus is spreading. At first a very few of the more intense of the viragoes were willing to risk their lives. Today the instinct for immolation, perverted and depraved as any sound psychologist will testify, runs through the rank and file.

A baffling complication is that the suffragettes are said to be receiving financial support in lavish measure from the highest classes of English society. So long as they can command money in abundance the task of checking them is doubly a dilemma.

Viewing these facts, one can understand, if not sympathize, with the typically brusk epigram of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who, upon recently landing in this country, said the one way to conquer the militants was to "lynch them." Is the world topsy-turvy? Is English law, proverbial for its stoutness, palsied? Is English resource, proverbially prolific, dried up at its fountainhead? It would appear so, since London, the world's biggest city, is absolutely tyrannized by petticoats. The feebleness of the authorities is humorous, where it is not pitiful and menacing. The present condition may be compared to a fire. Stamp out the first few sparks, and you scotch the evil. Play with them, and you invite cataclysm. The British authorities, by dalliance and false sensitiveness, have sown the wind. It is the whirlwind they are reaping.

The state of tension, the hurricane of hysteria rising in the British capital gives plausibility at least to this gloomy prophecy:

Unless conditions mend, the slow-witted and vacillating authorities may find themselves faced by the terrible tragedy of mob violence against women, or unnatural civil conflict that will appall civilization.

COLONEL R. J. REDDING.

The death yesterday of Colonel R. J. Redding, reported in our news columns, is a substantial loss to the best agricultural interests of Georgia. To Colonel Redding the end came peacefully and suddenly, as he had often expressed the hope it would. He was found lifeless in his bed in the early morning.

Colonel Redding was a patriarch and a pioneer in the cause of scientific and practical agricultural research in Georgia and the south. For many years he was director of the experiment station at Griffin, and his keen mind, long experience and sustained enthusiasm produced results that benefited farming not only in Georgia, but throughout the south.

For many years Colonel Redding had been in charge of the farm page of The Constitution. In that capacity he was recognized as an authority wherever The Daily or Tri-Weekly Constitution penetrated, and that means on every rural free delivery route in the south. He served the basic industry of his state well and truly. When scientific agriculture shall come to be universal in Georgia the historian will recognize that to Colonel Redding belongs much of the credit for patiently and with devotion laying its foundations.

THE END OF THE TETHER.

The testimony of several of the directors of the New Haven system before the interstate commerce commission bids fair to become historic. Now that the damage has been done and the property brought to the brink of bankruptcy, they coquettishly admit that they have become "directors that direct." The burden of their eager refrain is "We'll never be bunked again by Mellen or anybody else."

It isn't the directors who have been "bunked." It's the public, the investing public, the widows, orphans and trust funds that have been mulcted out of dividends. The honestly administered railroads, and there are many, are now under suspicion because of the transgressions of the few crookedly administered railroads. The plans of every business man in the country are tied up because all railroads, being more or less on probation, are unable to secure and spend the huge sums drastically needed for rehabilitation.

It is the "slaughter of the innocents" all over again, with the bulk of the business interests of this country playing the part of the innocents and the complacent and willingly hypnotized directors of such corporations as the New Haven, the Frisco and a few others nearer home playing the part of "low villains."

We agree with the directors that they won't be "bunked" again—not in a hurry. The patience of the nation with dummy and itching-palm directors has reached the end of its tether. The public means to see henceforth that directors discharge the functions for which they are chosen, and that is the safeguarding of the public interests. Palpably, directors are chosen for their sound names and reputations, the assumption being that big and little investors will place their money where men of such recognized integrity have powers of supervision. This premise being unimpeachable, it remains that in the future directors will be required honestly to exercise these powers or stay off boards; that if they abuse their powers for the purpose of personal pillage, whether or not it is legal, they are going to be decorated with stripes and slapped behind the bars.

These little salient facts might as well be understood at this psychological stage of the game. Their universal recognition is the prerequisite to the rehabilitation of business everywhere. The dummy director, the director who doesn't ask questions, the director who jumps through a hoop at the command of a railroad president or a financial overload, has seen his day. There will henceforth be no place for him in the economic scheme of this country.

No doubt the mediators are enjoying to the limit their world-famous summer vacation.

"The Life of Huerta" is the latest. Agents should have no trouble getting Villa to take it.

Colonel Roosevelt remarked: "I shall have something to say when I return." (Of course, everybody expected that he would be as dumb as an oyster.)

The Mexican peon wouldn't object to inheriting the land if someone else would work it for him.

Villa's film royalties have made him rich enough to retire and pose as a hotel hero the balance of his days.

If all the prayers for rain are answered Noah's flood will look like a millpond affair to the brethren.

Now, if the English militants turn on the undertakers, the dead may have to bury the dead.

Anyway, they can't accuse the mediators of exceeding the ...ed limit.

DAILY GRIST from the STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

GOVERNOR SLATON WILL NOT ENTER JOINT DEBATE WITH HARDWICK

Governor John M. Slaton has no notion of being dragged into a joint debate. Early in his campaign—only a few days after his formal announcement—he stated that he had no intention of engaging in a word slinging match with his opponents and at this day he sees no reason to change his position, the challenge of Hon. Tom Hardwick to the contrary notwithstanding.

His original statement on this subject appeared in The Constitution April 8, as follows:

"I can see no good of joint debates. They usually wind up in a contest of mud-slinging and billingsgate, and the man who is most proficient in this art gets the most applause, but not necessarily the largest number of votes. I do not believe in any such methods. The people of the state know me and my record for the past twenty years. I think the average man can be of more service to his state and himself by ploughing his fields than by listening to two men abuse each other. I think the farmers feel this way about it also."

To Mr. Hardwick's challenge he sent the following reply:

"Hon. Thomas W. Hardwick, Washington, D. C.

"Dear Sir: I have your favor of June 1st, inviting me to participate in a series of joint debates.

"A few days after announcing my candidacy for the United States senate, which I did on April 4th, I granted an interview that I would take part in no debates.

"I know nothing which would lead me to change the position taken at the beginning of my campaign.

"Moreover, in view of the approaching session of the legislature, the duties of the gubernatorial office will not allow me the time the suggested engagements would entail.

"Respectfully yours,
"JOHN M. SLATON."

So that would seem to end the idea of a joint debate once and for all.

But while the governor will not leave his official duties to go on the stump he is not going to sit idly by and allow himself to be attacked by his enemies without making a reply where a reply seems to be required. His first statement to the people of Georgia, which appeared in Sunday's paper, was good evidence that his campaign will not be lacking in aggressiveness. It placed his opponents —or at least two of them—squarely on the defensive.

In all probability the governor will have a few words to say in reply to Hon. Joe Hill Hall, of Macon, regarding the famous filibuster. He has some facts at hand which ought to furnish very interesting reading as well as to set the record straight regarding this memorable fight in the house.

HON. RUFE HUTCHENS CONFIDENT; SAYS FELDER IS LOSING GROUND

Hon. Rufe Hutchens, of Floyd county, candidate for the senate, spent Thursday in Atlanta. Mr. Hutchens was extremely optimistic. He said:

"I am in this race to stay and you will know I've been in it at the close.

"Felder is losing ground rapidly and Hardwick is gaining some. In two weeks' time the people of Georgia will see plainly that I am the man other candidates will have to beat. I am not sending a boy to the mill by any means."

Mr. Hutchens is making a systematic campaign of the state and has already covered a good deal of territory.

GOVERNOR SLATON APPOINTS BOARD OF VISITORS TO ACADEMY OF BLIND

Governor Slaton Thursday appointed the following board of visitors for the Academy for the Blind, at Macon:

P. P. Pirkle, Stockton, Ga.; J. R. Sinquefield, Bartow, Ga.; C. A. Snydor, Jefferson, Ga.; W. M. Parker, Reynolds, Ga.; Judge H. L. Long, Leesburg, Ga.; L. W. Moore, Lyons, Ga.; R. A. Nisbet, Macon, Ga.; John C. Reese, Atlanta, Ga.; Paul Donehoo, Atlanta, Ga.; Frank Lawson, Dublin, Ga.

WILL JOE BROWN REALLY ANNOUNCE? SOME THINK HE WILL NOT

Will Little Joe, who shows no sign of breaking his long silence, really announce for the senate against Hoke Smith?

Day by day this question is becoming more and more acute. And, as time passes, the answer is just as far away as ever it was. Some of the former governor's friends, who a few weeks ago were confident he would make the race, are by no means so sure of it today. Is it possible, after all, that Little Joe has no intention of entering politics this year?

CONGRESSMAN J. R. WALKER SAYS HE IS GOING TO SEEK RE-ELECTION

Waycross, Ga., June 4.—Direct from Congressman J. R. Walker, of the eleventh district, comes word today that he is going to seek re-election and will issue his formal announcement during next week. He has been kept in Washington by pending legislation and up to the present has had no time to conduct his campaign.

Prior to the positive statements by Mr. Walker it was rumored that he would not seek re-election, owing to ill health and his desire to resume the practice of law. His only opponent, so far, is J. A. J. Henderson, of Cedilla.

BROYLES MAKES FIFTIETH SPEECH, BUT DOESN'T TOUCH POLITICS

Judge Nash R. Broyles, of Atlanta's recorder's court, made his fiftieth speech within the last year at Perry, in Houston county, Friday. This was a commencement address on the occasion of the closing of Perry's schools made in response to an invitation which has been long standing.

About a dozen of these fifty speeches Judge Broyles has made have been school or college commencement addresses, while the others have dealt with law enforcement. Not one of them has been a political address or had any direct bearing on his candidacy for the court of appeals.

Judge Broyles has other invitations to deliver his law enforcement address and says he expects to keep on responding as long as people in any section of the state care to hear him.

ECUADOR
BY GEORGE PITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Ecuador is a modest little South American republic, shaped a good deal like a piece of New England pie, which has been doing business in a quiet way for about eighty-five years, and which only breaks into the headlines once a decade.

Few countries have been neglected by the press agent so thoroughly as Ecuador. A revolution in Ecuador isn't as important on the telegraph editor as a ward caucus in Chicago. Containing the tallest volcano in existence, not even excepting Senator Tillman, and having a history which stretches back to the days when Great Britain had thirteen kings and only two bath tubs, it is supposed by many thousands of people to be a popular brand of cigars, and only school boys and diplomats can locate it in the proper hemisphere.

Ecuador lies in and among Colombia and Peru. It is impossible to tell just where it lies, because Colombia and Peru are quarreling over half of its territory. Some day they will come to terms and then Ecuador will be a country of 120,000 square miles instead of 240,000 square miles as it is now. Ecuador believes in universal peace and does not appropriate anything for its navy, which makes it impossible to prove that it owns any territory which any other nation wants. Years ago when the United States had a navy a part of Ecuador, England was always very doubtful about our boundary lines. This is why this country stops abruptly at the north end of North Dakota instead of at the north end of the Canadian wheatfields where the American flag once waved.

"Transportation facilities are bad."

Ecuador is the pleasantest strip of equator in existence. This is because most of the country lies a mile or two above sea level in the Andes. It has a wonderfully healthful climate between revolutions, but transportation facilities are bad. One has to travel down the west coast of South America on a tramp steamer and go to shore in a small boat which performs motions which have not yet been invented even in Coney Island.

There are 1,500,000 people in Ecuador, most of them Indians, and there are 70,000 school children. Chimborazo, the famous mountain, is a resident of the country, and so are Cotopaxi and a thousand other peaks which make Pike's Peak look like an old-fashioned hotel in the skyscraper district.

Quito, the capital of Ecuador, is over 1,000 years old and was a capital of the Incas before the Spaniards came in 1564. From that time until 1830 Ecuador was a presidency, having 26 presidents. However, they were Spanish presidents and resembled the modern article as little as Huerta does Wilson. Since 1830, Ecuador has had the modern style of president and the average tenure of life has greatly increased.

The chief products of Ecuador are cattle, sugarcane, cacao and constitutions. It has had eleven constitutions in eighty-five years, and is always in the market for improvements.

Grossman Replies to Callaway on Right of Woman to Vote

Editor Constitution: You are to be commended, in my humble judgment, for that issue of last week. I wrote you at some length in answer to Hon. James C. Callaway, anticipating in the main, points raised by him in this morning's Constitution. You allowed me sufficient space to state the bedrock principles on which rests the Georgia Woman Suffrage movement. Mr. Callaway has seen fit to answer me in a rather ingenious way in this morning's Constitution. Knowing just what he implies by associating me with certain anti-south leaders with whom I radically differ on that question, I respectfully request an opportunity to answer.

Why shoot holes in a dead issue, the Susan B. Anthony amendment, unless it is a sincere or sub-conscious desire to prejudice the public mind against the Georgia Woman Suffrage movement. It is unfair to prejudice the possibilities of the Georgia campaign for votes for white women by state legislation by any quibble over national legislation which is impossible of achievement.

Even in congress leading suffragists oppose any encroachment on state's rights and thousands of voters who believe in the wisdom and justice of votes for the white women of Georgia would not achieve even this glorious end by any surrender of state sovereignty.

The entire suffrage movement is antagonized by Mr. Callaway because there have been some ill-advised requests for national legislation. Is he not blind to the fact that there is one right way and there are many wrong ways to achieve results worth while? The right way is state legislation to enfranchise the white women of Georgia.

The ignorant vote, and all those men born in public houses and reared in brothels, who never knew the tender love of a mother, men who drink whenever they can, fight whenever they can, and consider the gratification of their animal appetites as the chief objects of their existence—these men fear woman suffrage. Why, Mr. Callaway, do you and a few good kindred souls lend a cloak of respectability to such a nondescript outfit? The greatest argument for woman suffrage is the vicious enemies it has made, and their sordid opposition rests on a dread of improved conditions.

I have the conviction that there is only needed a torch of light and a fair presentation of the facts to carry the day.

Honesty Is Intelligence.
BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

There is a saying that "it takes a smart man to be a crook." But it takes a smarter man to be honest, for Honesty in its last analysis, is nothing but Intelligence. The man who has brains sufficient to realize that Honesty at all times is the best policy is the man who is the most Intelligent.

To be fair with yourself, is to be Honest with yourself, and to be Honest with yourself is to show to the world that you are very Intelligent.

Dishonesty always robs a man of his Honor, always kills the natural workings of his brain, and blasts at the vitals of his Heart Feeling. So that Dishonesty of whatever nature is always Ignorance.

Brains for Dishonest purposes require just as much time and effort as though directed along high and noble channels, and yet the returns are always lower for the man who is forced to despise himself and to turn traitor to the best feelings and sentiments that he has, at the same time, making himself an outlaw before all the world.

Honesty is always Intelligence. If you doubt it in the least manner, put it to the test, and you will find that nothing is truer than this statement.

Napoleon!

Next Sunday!

Day After Tomorrow, The Constitution Starts a Thrilling Study of Napoleon.

Sunday, day after tomorrow, The Constitution begins the serial publication of "Twenty Thousand Miles In the Path of Napoleon," by James Morgan.

We are nearing the centenary of the climax of the mighty Corsican.

Here is the most arresting, intimate story of him yet written.

To obtain all the data of this remarkable feature, published by The Constitution and a few other enterprising newspapers, cost approximately $10,000.

A page installment appears each Sunday, fully illustrated.

EVERY FOOTSTEP.

The mind of every man who can read thrills to the name—

"Napoleon!"

He represents the acme of mystery, the climax of hypnotic appeal, the essence of romance, the challenge to human ambition, lust for power, the sky-mark of incarnated military genius.

He is the man who during his life made and remade the map of Europe; even threatened to dominate the world; thrust his menacing finger into the history of the new world.

We are on the verge of the centenary of Waterloo.

Napoleon, the greatest figure in profane history, is the star of the cast.

James Morgan, eminent writer and historian, has adopted a new method to bring Napoleon home to YOU.

He has traversed each one of the 20,000 miles that figure in the career of this overshadowing man.

Each large and little incident, those intimate and informing details, he has set down with forceful magic.

Nothing FAKE, nothing FREAK, nothing HYSTERICAL about this story of Napoleon.

The fascination of TRUTH, the charm of CONQUEST, the lure of ROMANCE, the thrill of WAR, the education of HISTORY, run through the installments.

What do you know of this man's early beginnings?

What of his childish struggles?

What of his vaulting ambition, soon displayed?

What of his fragrant young romance?

Of his deadly amorousness?

Of his using men and their loves, their weakness, as pawns?

Of his terrible genius in battle?

Of his pathetic desire for an heir to his glory and the price he paid for one?

AN UNIQUE PILGRIMAGE.

No writer has ever made such a journey as that made by Mr. Morgan in procuring the material for this series. He went in a newspaper fashion to every scene in Napoleon's life to gain vivid first-hand impressions and collect new material and pictures for a distinct newspaper feature. To do this he spent thousands of dollars and in five months traveled more than 20,000 miles.

From Corsica, where he stood by the couch on which Napoleon was born, to St. Helena, where he witnessed the scenes of Napoleon's last days; at Brienne, in Paris, Italy, on the famous bridges of Lodi and Arcole, on every battlefield, through the Alps, across the Mediterranean, in Egypt to the Pyramids, in Syria, the Holy Land, across the plain of Sharon, to the shores of Jaffa and again across the plain of Esdralean to Nazareth, and finally to the walls of Acre, where the great conqueror's march to Constantinople was stopped, Mr. Morgan trod actually, inch by inch, the entire path of Napoleon's career, climaxing at Waterloo, then on to the oblivion of St. Helena.

The most enthralling story of Napoleon yet written begins in The Constitution next Sunday—day after tomorrow.

GREAT MONUMENT TO DIXIE HEROES

Unveiled in Arlington Cemetery—Chief Address by President Wilson—Ceremonies Cut Short by Storm

Washington, June 4.—A terrific thunderstorm broke over Arlington National cemetery late today while President Wilson was addressing a great crowd gathered for the unveiling of the monument erected there to the confederate dead. Rain drenched the blue and gray veterans and women and children before they could seek shelter. There was a wild dash for automobiles and trolley cars, participants and spectators alike forgetting the almost finished program.

The president, who had cut short his speech as the rising wind and darkening skies announced the storm's coming, hurried to his car with his two daughters, Mrs. McAdoo and Mrs. Sayre. They were inside before the rain came, but the machines' top afforded no protection, and the party was drenched on the 7-mile drive back to Washington.

The ceremonies were held at the base of the magnificent monument in the confederate section of the cemetery. Only a slight canopy afforded protection to the speakers, and the crowd was without shelter and far from any buildings.

Mrs. Stevens Presents Monument.

Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, made the address presenting the monument to the president on behalf of the women confederacy. Tumultuous applause greeted her when she said:

"Yours, Mr. President, was Jefferson's spirit when at Mobile you said the United States had no interest in Mexico or any other foreign lands, except to see that the citizens enjoyed the right to the pursuit of happiness under a constitutional and just government.

The president acknowledged the tribute with smiling approval.

General Washington Gardner, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, and General Bennett Young, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans were notable figures among the speakers, and both were cheered with equal enthusiasm by veterans in gray and those in blue. Colonel Robert E. Lee, grandson of General Lee, also spoke, while the sculptor, Sir Moses Ezekiel, a confederate veteran who designed the monument, was present. Master Paul Micou, a grandson of Colonel Hilary A. Herbert, pulled the cords which released the draperies.

All the speakers commented on the appropriateness of delivering the memorial to the government through a southern-born president.

President Wilson's Address.

"I assure you that I am profoundly aware of the solemn significance of the thing that has taken place. The Daughters of the Confederacy have presented a memorial of their dead to the government of the United States. I hope that you have noted the history of the conception of this idea. It was proposed by a president of the United States, who himself had been a distinguished officer in the union army. It was authorized by an act of congress of the United States. The cornerstone of the monument was laid by a president of the United States elevated to his position by the votes of the party which had chiefly prided itself upon sustaining the war for the union. And, now, it has fallen to my lot to accept in the name of the great government, which I am privileged for the time to represent, this emblem of a reunited people.

"I am not so much happy as proud to participate in this capacity on such an occasion, proud that I should represent such a people. Am I mistaken, ladies and gentlemen, in supposing that nothing of this sort could have occurred in anything but a democracy? The people of a democracy are not related to their rulers as subjects are related to a government. They are themselves the sovereign authority, and as they are neighbors of each other, quickened by the same passions and moved by the same motives, they can understand each other. They are shot through with some of the deepest and profoundest instincts of human sympathy. They choose their governments. They consult their rulers. They live their own life and they will not have that life disturbed and discolored by fraternal misunderstandings.

Faces to the Future.

"This chapter in the history of the United States is now closed and I can bid you turn with me your faces to the future, quickened by the memories of the past, but with nothing to do with the contests of the past, knowing as we shed our blood upon opposite sides, we now face and admire one another. The generosity of our judgment was made up soon after this great struggle was over when men came and sat together again in the congress, united in all efforts of peace and of government; and our solemn duty is to see that each one of us is in his own consciousness and in his own conduct a replica of this great republic. It is our duty and our privilege to be like the country we represent, and, speaking no word of malice, no word of criticism, even standing shoulder to shoulder to lift the burdens of mankind in the future that show the paths of freedom to all the world."

The dominant figure of the monument unveiled today is a woman of heroic size, typifying the south in peace, surmounting a relief upon which there are thirty-two figures depicting the heroism of the south in war. It was dedicated to all heroes of the confederacy.

Flags of the confederacy and the stars and stripes were draped together over the monument, and decorated the speakers' stand. The Fifth cavalry band played "Star Spangled Banner" and "Dixie."

Five confederate veterans, among them Sir Moses Ezekiel, sculptor of the Arlington monument, today were proud possessors of specially designed crosses of honor, presented last night at a Jefferson Davis birthday celebration here. Nearly 1,000 confederate veterans attended.

Senator Williams, of Mississippi, and Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, addressed the veterans, paying tribute to the memory of the confederate president.

CAPT. R. J. REDDING DIES SUDDENLY AT GRIFFIN

Was Pioneer in Agricultural Advancement of Georgia. Funeral This Morning.

Griffin, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Griffin today grieves the death of one of her oldest and noblest citizens, as well as one of the foremost men in the entire state, Captain Robert Jordan Redding. At no time within a decade has the community been more shocked than early this morning, when the announcement was made that Captain Redding had died suddenly during last night.

Captain Redding retired somewhat earlier than usual last night, suffering from acute indigestion. His attending physician stated that no unusual symptoms were manifest, and declared that the patient would probably be all right by morning. At 10 o'clock last night he was resting comfortably, at which time his family retired for the night. Between the hour of midnight and day-break this morning he passed away without even a murmur or struggle. His death was discovered at 6 o'clock.

CAPTAIN R. J. REDDING,
Who Died Thursday at Griffin.

His health had been in good condition during recent weeks, and he had been diligently at work revising the tax returns of the county all day yesterday, to which position he had been recently appointed.

Captain Redding was exceedingly well known throughout the entire state, having occupied an eminent position in state affairs for over a quarter of a century, and being a pioneer in the agricultural advancement of Georgia. In farming circles he was well known, and his opinion on agricultural topics was considered authoritative. He was the author of numerous agricultural books, and for twenty-five years was editor of farm publications.

He was also farm editor of The Atlanta Constitution for many years, in which position he has done as much or more than any other man in the south in bringing the farmers of the country to put their business on a sound basis.

Captain Redding is survived by his wife, Sarah Elizabeth Redding, and five children as follows: Robert Augustus Redding, insurance adjuster of Atlanta; Samuel Arthur Redding, electrical engineer, of Atlanta; Mrs. William C. King, of Atlanta; Mrs. R. B. Sawtell and Henry George Redding, of Griffin. The funeral will take place Friday morning from the First Methodist church. The services will be conducted by Rev. Fletcher Walton, D. D., presiding elder of the Griffin district, and Rev. G. P. Venable, pastor of the First Methodist church. The First Methodist board of stewards, of which Captain Redding was a member, will act as honorary escort.

Captain Redding was born in Monroe county December 25, 1836. His ancestry can be traced back seven generations, when three Redding brothers came to America in 1621 aboard the ship Bonaventure and settled in the state of Virginia. In his boyhood days Captain Redding was educated in the private schools of Milledgeville, where his father had lived as keeper of the state penitentiary. When he was 12 years of age his father was removed to Dahlonega as president of the United States mint there. The young Redding was then entered in the Dahlonega academy. Later the young Redding was sent to school at the Brownwood institute, then located in LaGrange. In his eighteenth year he finished the course at Brownwood, where he had studied civil engineering, chemistry, astronomy, physics and political economy. His studies in political economy at that early age made him a confirmed free-trader in theory.

Captain Redding was married three times. His first marriage was to Miss Mary E. Elvins, in 1854. His second wife was Miss Sarah E. Worrill, of Atlanta, whom he married in 1871. His third wife, who survives him, was Miss Sarah E. Redding, of Decatur, Ala. A notable fact connected with the three wives of Captain Redding is that each one was named Elizabeth and that his last wife's great-great-grandfather and his own great-grandfather were one and the same man.

When Captain Redding reached the age of 21 he launched upon his life career, determining to practice law. The county of Schley had just been created, and he established himself in law practice in Pondtown, the prospective county seat. He found law practice uncongenial, so abandoned it in 1859, after having served as judge of the Schley county inferior court.

Having been reared on a farm, Captain Redding took up that work again, the owner of twelve slaves and a plantation valued at $6,000. He made good at farming, rapidly accumulating real estate and making rapid strides in progressive agriculture.

In March, 1862, he entered the confederate service as first lieutenant of the "Schley Rifles," or company B, Forty-sixth Georgia volunteer infantry, commanded by Colonel Peyton H. Colquitt.

In the battle at Kennesaw Mountain, three miles from Marietta, June 24, Captain Redding was wounded severely by a minie ball penetrating the left leg. The wound was not a serious one within itself, but his removal to a confederate hospital then at Macon, where gangrene was among the soldiers, came near costing him the loss of the leg and his life. He was not able to enter active service again before the close of the war.

In October, 1875, Captain Redding was appointed assistant commissioner of agriculture, having been assigned to that post by Thomas P. Janes, commissioner. He continued in that position till September, 1889, when he resigned to become first director of the state experiment station, which had just been established. For seventeen years he continued in that office, introducing many of the modern ideas of agriculture in this state that have made the state many millions of dollars richer and the farm land much more productive.

In 1907 Captain Redding was appointed commissioner of the Georgia building and exhibit at the Jamestown exposition.

Captain Redding never indulged in active politics and never sought office. He was a lifelong democrat and a single taxer. He was opposed to the civil war, yet gave his services in behalf of his southland. For forty-six years he was an officer in the southern Methodist church, having served as steward for forty-six consecutive terms.

Captain Redding's greatest achievement has been in the development of Georgia's agricultural resources.

For two years he was editor of The Southern World, and for six years the editorial management of The Southern Cultivator was in his hands. For the past twenty-one years he has been editor of the farm department of The Atlanta Constitution.

DANCING CARNIVAL ENDS REXALL MEETING

Atlanta Convention a Success From Every Standpoint.

With a glorious round of hilarity at the Grand Southern Auld Lang Syne Dancing carnival at the Auditorium-Armory last night the twelfth annual convention of the Rexall druggists, which has been in session in Atlanta since last Tuesday, came to a close.

There were two business sessions on Thursday, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. At these meetings questions of service and advertising were discussed.

The Rexallites had a fine time at the dancing carnival. This event was planned especially for the delectation of the ladies.

All the dances from 1814 to 1914 were demonstrated in costume by Mlle. Albertina Rasch and Edmunde Makalif, of the Century Grand Opera company of New York, and the Opera Comisque, of Paris. Besides these there were many other beautiful dances with splendid scenic effects, after which everybody went upon the floor and danced to their hearts' content. The event closed with a dinner.

J. W. Seals, of Waycross, Ga., was the man who held the lucky number that won the automobile which was given away at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The car is a big seven-passenger Jackson, 1914 Olympic 40, and it is a beauty.

The convention, which is being held in four sections this year, will go from here to Kansas City, from there to Niagara Falls and in August will go to London. The entire exhibit which was shown in Atlanta will be shipped to these cities and cases have been especially prepared for each article. The 1915 convention will probably be held in San Francisco.

Miss Frances E. Dillard Dies Here While on Way To Brother's Graduation

Miss Frances E. Dillard, of Washington, Ga., died suddenly of heart failure at the Hotel Ansley Thursday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock.

Miss Dillard was on her way to Auburn, Ala., to attend the graduation of her brother, and stopped off in Atlanta a few hours to take lunch. Soon after lunch at the Ansley, she complained of feeling ill and was taken to her room.

Physicians were summoned and treated her, but were unable to save her, death occurring shortly after noon. Her mother was notified by telegram and will arrive by automobile early this morning.

Miss Dillard was 21 years old. Surviving her are her mother, Mrs. S. R. Dillard; two sisters, Miss Mary Dillard and Mrs. Boyce Pickland, Jr., and one brother, Reece Dillard. The body is at Patterson's undertaking chapel, and will be taken this morning at 7:30 o'clock to Washington for funeral and interment.

Macon Complaint Dismissed.

Washington, June 4.—Complaint of the Macon, Ga., Chamber of Commerce, alleging unjust and discriminatory rates on shoe sole leather and raw leather for the manufacture of harness from Ohio and Mississippi river crossings and gulf ports to Macon was dismissed today by the interstate commerce commission. Commissioner Clements held that the rates resulted in no undue disadvantage to Macon manufacturers.

GREAT AUTO OFFER IN NOW IN EFFECT

and this step may lead to a rich reward.

The four city districts comprise Division No. 1; the five out-of-town districts comprise Division No. 2. Divisions Nos. 1 and 2, as they now stand, show activity in a few localities, but many of the nominees are overlooking their chances to gather thousands of free votes. The days are passing rapidly, and no particular improvement is noticed in their scores. This inactivity is surprising, when the votes to be obtained with but little effort is of so much importance and value. Soon, however, those who are anxious to take advantage of fortunate circumstances, when possible, will take the places of those who are inactive to favorable opportunities.

Vacancies Occurring.

Names are being stricken from the list daily, leaving vacancies for enterprising people who realize that seldom is the chance given to select free of cost a splendid motor car from nearly $20,000 worth of standard machines.

The nine self-player pianos which have been purchased are considered standards in their class, and are valued at $750 each. Beautifully simple in design and built to last a lifetime, each represents an award of exceeding merit. Obtain one of them that you may always feel well repaid for your efforts.

Last Sunday The Constitution published a list of nominees of nearly five thousand names. Of this large number only a few have shown any activity. On next Sunday the list will appear again, but it will be considerably smaller. If anyone's name fails to appear who intends to be active in this campaign it is because it was omitted by mistake or has been purposely stricken from the list, for the reason that the candidate has not as yet shown the Contest Department her intention of making an effort to win one of the prizes.

Do not overlook the fact that thirteen automobiles must be given away; that very little activity has been shown up to date. With the exception of two or three parties, one or two special days' work in vote gathering will the Contest Department her intention on an equal basis with others, if not ahead, in the race.

The two hundred thousand bonus offer is a special offer to every candidate which should not be overlooked.

Extra Bonus Vote This Week.

For every club of $30 worth of new subscriptions turned in to or mailed The Constitution by midnight June 6, a certificate for 200,000 additional votes will be issued. These clubs may be composed of new subscriptions for three and six months as well as yearly subscriptions. By this it can be readily seen that a club of new yearly subscriptions will call for approximately 350,000 votes. Three club over one million votes; six clubs over two million votes; nine clubs, over three million votes, and so on. Any energetic, live, wide-awake candidate can get out and get this number of subscriptions before Saturday night. It is suggested that contestants try to get annual subscriptions or subscriptions for two years when it is possible, as votes count faster; but when this cannot be done, get the subscriptions for three months or six months. But get a subscription from everyone you call on.

It only needs the proper effort and determination on the part of a candidate, and this properly applied from now until June 27 may secure as a reward one of the thirteen automobiles. All of these prizes must be given away. Why not win one yourself? No one has a better opportunity than you, if you put forth the proper effort.

CRACKERS SHOW THE FIGHTING SPIRIT

Edited By DICK JEMISON

WHIFFS

Still It Works.

THE UPSIDE DOWN standing of the Crackers continues to rout that jinx and until we lose a game we're going to keep it upside down. With it in that position it has caused the locals to win four straight and has caused many comments from local fans who missed our first story as to why we had it upside down.

Encouraging.

THE SHOWING of the Crackers in Thursday's game is the most encouraging thing that we have seen yet. They showed that they have that old fighting spirit, something which there were many who doubted they possessed until Thursday. But principal encouragement can be gained from a glance at the box score, showing two hits for Long and Welchonce. With them back on their stride, if they maintain it, keep your lamps on the Crackers.

Pulling for Perry.

ATLANTANS are pulling for Perry Adair, the youthful golfing prodigy, who has them by the ears by the brand of golf he is playing in the southern championship at Memphis. The youngster has won four matches under trying circumstances—circumstances sufficient to test the nerve of the most experienced golfer. This morning he meets Nelson Whitney, the present champion. Atlantans must pull their hardest for the young golfer in this match.

After Record.

AMBY McCONNELL is making a bid for the run getting record of the Southern League, now held by Tommy Long. Amby has tallied 37 runs in 48 games. Maintaining the same ratio for the remainder of the season Mac will tally 118 runs or six more than Long registered. Go to it, Amby.

Changed Style.

THE BIG CHEESE, as we have lovingly dubbed Captain Harry Welchonce, is not creating the furore among the Southern League pitchers this season that he has for the past two years. There are two reasons. First, Harry has not been physically fit to play and secondly he has changed his style. He is not hitting as flatfooted as he did in 1912 and 1913. He is running with the swing this year. But when he recovers his strength the B. C. will be back on the job and making some of these twirlers that have been fanning him suffer.

Fine Scoring.

THE SCORING in Nashville must be mighty punk if the box score of the second game between the Vols and the Pels Wednesday is any sample. This game was called at the end of the first half of the ninth. The Pels tallied 3 runs in their half of the ninth, but darkness prevented the Vols getting their half. There is no rule in baseball that can allow this. The score should revert to even innings, the runs hits and errors made in that half inning being eliminated and the final count being New Orleans 7, Nashville 6.

Not Kicking.

THE SCHEDULE of the Southern League thus far has been a poor one so far as the Crackers are concerned. But we're not going to kick about it. Last year's was a poor schedule of dates, but the long home stay at the end of the season was just what we wanted. There may be just such a condition again this year.

PELL PLAYS WRIGHT, WINNER TO MEET DR. NAT THORNTON

Richmond, Va., June 4.—T. R. Pell, of New York, and Irving Wright, of Boston, will play the final round in the men's singles for the privilege to meet Dr. Nat Thornton, of Atlanta, present holder of the Old Dominion Tennis Tournament trophy, on Saturday.

Miss Clare Cassell, of New York, and Miss Mary Wagner, of New York, national indoor tennis champion, will contest for the privilege of meeting Miss Connie Sullivan, of Richmond holder of the title in women's singles.

The surprise of the day was the ease with which Irving Wright defeated Wylie Grant, of New York, indoor champion, taking two straight sets 6-2, 6-3. Pell had an even easier match with W. F. Harrity, Jr., of Philadelphia, defeating his man 6-2, 6-1. In the women's singles Miss Wagner had a rather stiff battle taking care of Mrs. C. N. Beard, of East Orange, N. J. Mrs. Beard won the first set in good style, the match ending 4-6, 6-0, 6-2.

Pell and Grant won the championship in the men's doubles, defeating Irving and Beals Wright in the hardest matches of the day, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, 11-9. Mrs. Sullivan and Miss Neely, of Richmond, will play Miss Wagner and Miss Cassell for the club championship in women's doubles.

In Hot Slugfest Crackers Fight Their Way to Front; Four Pitchers Hit Hard

By Dick Jemison.

Spotting the Pelicans a four-run lead in the opening inning, the Crackers showed their fighting spirit and hammered their way to a 9 to 6 victory in the first appearance of the Birds in this city this season.

Incidentally they scored their fourth straight win and as the Barons were defeated by the Vols, they now occupy the fourth position in the league race without dividing the honor with anyone.

It was one of those slugfests that every fan loves to see occasionally. There was plenty of hitting on both sides; in fact, each team secured fourteen bingles at the expense of two pitchers on each side.

It was a see-saw game, plenty of excitement, plenty of chances to score by both teams, good fielding and bad fielding, splendid base running in spots and some grand hitting.

The Stars.

Hub Northern featured the attack of the Birds with a triple, a single and a double, in that order, in his first three times to the plate. Bill Lindsay also got three blows.

The errors of Sylvester at first and a boot by Northern in right figured materially in the run-getting for the Crackers.

McConnell, Kircher, Long, Welchonce, Eibel and Tyree hammered the ball hard and were instrumental in driving across the runs for the locals.

Three great fielding plays by McConnell and the base running of Tommy Long were the features from an Atlanta standpoint aside from the hitting and the spirit of the club in fighting against almost impossible odds.

Doscher started for the Crackers and lasted less than an inning. Browning finished and was tight in the pinches. Walker started for the Birds and lasted less than four innings. Styles supplanted him. The latter gets the credit of the loss, as the Birds tied it up with him on the mound.

How They Scored.

The Birds tallied four times in the opener. Hendryx worked Doscher for a free ticket. Starr singled. Both advanced on Barbare's infield out. Hendryx tallied when Burns hit to McConnell, the latter making a great play back of first. Lindsay singled and Sylvester singled, scoring Starr. Northern tripled, sending in Lindsay and Sylvester, and Bill Smith yanked Doscher.

The Crackers got two in the second. Jennings walked and Tyree singled. Browning fanned, the ball being a wild pitch and hitting Umpire Chestnutt on the foot, both men advancing, Browning being out because first and second were occupied. McConnell tallied both with a single to center.

The locals tied it up in the third. Long opened the inning with a home-run clout to the score board. Welchonce singled and was sacrificed to second by Jennings. Flanagan hit to Barbare and when Sylvester dropped the throw at first, he was safe. Welchonce tallied with the tying run on Tyree's single to right.

The locals took the lead in the fourth. With two men gone, Northern dropped Long's fly. Long swiped second and tallied when Welchonce singled. Walker hit Jennings and then Dobbs yanked him, Styles finishing the game.

Pels Tie It.

The Pels tied it up in their half of the sixth. With one gone, Northern doubled to right center. Higgins singled to right. Flanagan pegged to the plate and Tyree let it get away. Northern tallied. He would have been out a mile.

The game was won in the seventh. After Sylvester had dropped his easy pop foul, Browning walked, but was forced by McConnell. Kircher then got an infield hit and both tallied when Eibel laced a triple down the first base line.

Long hit to Barbare, who juggled momentarily, Eibel scoring on the play. Then Sylvester dropped Barbare's throw to first and Long was safe. Long stole. Welchonce hit to Starr and Long, by a beautiful piece of base running, scored from second, while Captain Harry was being thrown out at first.

Rube Kissinger will probable face Mutt Williams in the second game of the series today.

Renfer pitched good ball, with the exception of wildness. Lindsay's great fielding featured.

PERRY ADAIR MEETS PRESENT CHAMPION

Memphis, Tenn., June 4.—(Special.)—Perry Adair, the 14-year-old golfer from Atlanta, is the sensation of the golf tournament for the amateur championship of the Southern Golf association being played over the local course.

Though a mere wisp of a boy, he has been playing the steadiest golf of any of the contestants in the tournament. Every one of his matches has been most trying. They would test the nerve of a more experienced golfer than he, but though this is his first tournament, the young golfer has shown wonderful nerve and ability.

Everyone at the course and the golfers of the south in general are pulling for the youngster to come through and win the title. They are admiring his pluck, his ability and his golfing temperament.

Four Hard Matches.

The youngster has had four hard matches. He won his first match on the seventeenth green. He eliminated his father in his second match after an extra hole.

Today, in the morning round, it was the seventeetnh hole before he put out Whitney Bowden, of New Orleans, 2 up. In the afternoon, S. L. Probasco, the left-handed wizard of Chattanooga, gave him an even closer match, and it was not until he sunk a putt on the eighteenth green that he won.

This puts the youngster in the semi-finals and facing the present champion, Nelson Whitney, of New Orleans.

In Whitney, the youngster will meet not only one of the best golfers in the south, but a player who apparently has no nerves, one of the longest drivers in the south and a great iron player.

Golfing students here say if Adair wins, it will be on the putting greens, where his work has been regarded as remarkable. His putting has been the best of any one in the tournament.

The record gallery of the tournament is sure to follow the Whitney-Adair match, which starts at 10 o'colck tomorrow morning.

Whitney Easy Winner.

Whitney won his two matches today in fairly easy style He defeated J. A. Evans, Jr., of Memphis, in the morning round, 5 up and 4 to play. In the afternoon he defeated R. G. Bush, another former champion, 2 up and 1 to play.

In the other semi-final bracket will be found two of the Texas entrants, L. Jacobl, of Dallas, and George V. Rotan, of Waco. The latter is Texas champion.

Jacobi eliminated R. H. Baugh, of Birmingham in the morning round, 6 to 5, and in so doing established an amateur record for the course when he turned in a wonderful 68. In the afternoon he won an uphill fight from J. A. England, of Little Rock, Ark., the match going two extra holes before Jacobi won.

The Texas champion put out W. H. Rowan, of Atlanta, in the morning round, 5 up and 4 to play, and in the afternoon, eliminated another former southern champion, J. F. Edrington, of Memphis, 6 up and 5 to play. In neither match was the Texas star pushed closely.

Play in the other flights is progressing rapidly, and decision will be reached Saturday, when the finals in the first flight will also be played.

In establishing the record today, Jacobi played almost faultless golf. His only bad shot was a drive into the rough on the seventeenth hole and his approaches were so good that only one long putt was necessary. His card for the eighteen holes was:

Out—343 534 443—33.
In—454 434 254—35—68.

P. Galbreath, of Memphis, playing in the fourth flight in a match with G. N. Aldridge, of Dallas, ran down a mashie shot of 75 yards for a hole, the ball striking the flag.

One hundred and five pairs were sent out in match play during the day in the fifteen flights, a record for southern association tournaments.

Tomorrow's play will be over 36 holes.

SMITH SOLD TO GIANTS AND BOWDEN TO NAPS

Savannah, Ga., June 4.—It is announced that Catcher Harry Smith, of the local South Atlantic league club, has been sold to the New York Nationals for fall delivery, and that Outfielder Bowden, of the Macon club, has been sold to the Cleveland Americans at the end of the South Atlantic season in August.

The prices are said to be in the neighborhood of $3,000 each.

Smith, who was drafted by Savannah from Winston-Salem, N. C., is hitting above the .300 mark, as is Bowden. He formerly played in the Virginia league. Bowden is playing his first season in professional baseball, having won his laurels at the University of Georgia.

Sale of Bowden Denied.

Macon, Ga., June 4.—Denial was made tonight by President W. K. Young, of the Macon club, of the report from Savannah that Outfielder Timon Bowden, of the Macon club, had been sold.

"In Savannah Monday of this week three big league scouts asked for options on Bowden at prices ranging from $2,500 to $3,750," said Mr. Young, "but all were declined. Bowden has not been sold, nor has any club even so much as an option."

Charley Frank Is Honored By Atlanta Baseball Fans

Charley Frank, one of the founders of the Southern league, and until the present season actively connected with its organization as a manager, was presented with a silver loving cup by Atlanta fans yesterday afternoon at Ponce de Leon.

The presentation of this trophy was a token of the esteem of Atlanta baseball bugs for the former Pelican chieftain and a little appreciation of what he did for them when he defeated Mobile in the final game of the season in Mobile last September, sending the pennant to this city.

The presentation took place in the third inning of Thursday's game. Players of both teams, the umpires, Mr. Frank, Vice President Nunnally, of the Atlanta club; President Wilcox, of the Montgomery club, representing Judge Kavanaugh, president of the Southern league, and John D. Harrington assembled around the plate.

The presentation speech was made by Mr. Harrington, who conceived the trophy idea after the final game last season and started the subscription list.

Harrington's Speech.

Mr. Harrington's presentation speech follows:

"I have been requested by the loyal fans of Atlanta to present you with this loving cup. Engraved upon it you will find this inscription: 'Charles Frank, from the Atlanta Fans, an Appreciation.'

"This does not mean that they only appreciate you and your services when you win a game that gives the pennant to Atlanta, but it also means that they appreciate deeply the great service you have rendered to baseball in the south by your wise counsel and your deep interest in the welfare of the game for the many, many years of your connection with it in the Southern league.

"The Southern association recognized that service by creating the office of vice president, to which you were elected, and the many lovers of the game in Atlanta gave a concrete expression to that same appreciation when they voluntarily subscribed to the purchase of this loving cup.

"I congratulate you upon the position you occupy in the hearts of the fans and for the recognition you have received for the yeoman service you have rendered baseball in the south.

"You can rest assured that you are deeply appreciated in Atlanta, that we all have a notion here that with the splendid assistance of Finis Wilson and Hendryx, you can divert a pennant any old time.

"Here's to your health, your family's health. May you live long and prosper."

Frank's Reply.

Mr. Frank accepted the trophy with these words:

"In accepting this beautiful gift I assure you that it gives me much pleasure in more ways than one.

"It has always been my aim to conduct the great national game above reproach, and to have been with the boys that battled in Mobile last September, I concluded that if it was the last act of my career I had done well.

"I want to say to the friends of baseball that you owe it to the players that took part in that memorable game a welcome glad hand at every turn.

"You owe to this, the Southern association of baseball clubs, your moral as well as financial support. You have shown you appreciate this fact by your grand attendance of 1913. For your loyalty you are known and I want to say to you—don't desert the home boys, for they are your assistance at all times. Remain true and help them over the bad spots—they are worthy of it—so root."

VANITIE FORCED TO QUIT THE RACE

Two of Her Crew Fall Overboard — Outdistanced Before She Rescued Them. Shamrock Sails.

Rye, N. Y., June 4.—The third race of the initial series for the America's cup defense candidate yachts was won on Long Island sound today by the sloop Resolute, after the Vanitie, in the lead, withdrew to assist in the rescue of two of her seamen, washed overboard during the first leg of the race. Once the Gardner—designed single sticker—dropped out of the race the Resolute was assured of a hollow victory, and the contest originally planned as an 18-mile race was shortened half that distance. The Herreshoff craft crossed the finish 53 minutes and 41 seconds after the start.

Winning today's race gave the Resolute two out of the series of three matches begun Tuesday. The yachts will renew their contest Saturday.

Off to a beautiful start, the Vanitie took the lead. Suddenly the yacht hove to and the crew was seen to be rushing about the steeply-slanted dock. Yachtsmen hurriedly adjusted their marine glasses, searching for sailor tackle that they felt sure had torn loose.

It proved to be a far more serious matter, for the yacht had lost two of her crew overboard and the seamen could be seen far astern struggling to keep afloat in the wake of the sloop. There was a rush of steamers and tugs and the distressed men, Alex Johnson and Oscar Olsen, were picked up.

Shamrock Sails.

Portsmouth, England, June 4.—Shamrock IV., Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for America's cup, went out today for her first sail-stretching spin in the vicinity of Spithead. She was accompanied by Shamrock III.

The wind was light and fluky and inadequate to test the capabilities of the challenger. Under her huge mainsail and her sloop foresail she maneuvered handily, however, and picked up way quickly after tacking.

The towering mast of the new yacht dwarfed that of the old Shamrock.

Sir Thomas Lipton was on board the challenger together with Charles E. Nicholson, her designer, and William P. Burton, the amateur yachtsman who is to command the Shamrock IV. during the cup races in American waters.

Although Shamrock IV. made no attempt at racing today, she showed fine turns of speed in a fitful breeze.

The yacht's huge foresail astonished the spectators, but she proved responsive to her helm. She made good progress in the light airs.

The main sail of the challenger is enormous, with a tremendous hoist and a boom projecting 15 feet over the taffrail.

Emory Faculty Wins.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., June 4.—(Special)—The faculty of Emory colege took a parting shot at the seniors this afternoon when they defeated them in a game of the great national pastime by the score of 11 to 4. This feature capped the climax for Emory athletics for the scholastic year and incidentally brought about the battle which is always looked forward to.

OLD CROP HIGHER, NEW CROP LOWER

The Cotton Market Showed Less Irregularity Than on the Previous Day's Trading.

New York, June 4.—The cotton market was less active today and showed more or less irregularity, with new crop positions relatively easy, as a result of improving weather conditions in the south and further realizing. The close was steady at a net advance of 1 to 6 points on the old crop, but from 6 to 7 points net lower on new crop deliveries.

There was quite a good deal of cotton for sale during the earlier trading. The late break of yesterday attracted some overnight selling orders, while Liverpool made an indifferent showing, and the early weather map encouraged talk of probable crop improvement.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 1 to 7 points, and after some irregularity sold about 7 to 11 points under the closing figures of yesterday. The official forecast for clear weather west of the river and unsettled conditions with showers in the eastern belt probably promoted some selling for a reaction, as well as scattering liquidation and a few stop orders were uncovered. The selling of this sort was light enough to suggest that the scattering long interest had been pretty well liquidated earlier in the week, however, and the market steadied up on covering.

Old crop positions led the rally, selling some 10 points above last night's close during the afternoon on reports of a better spot demand in the south and spot house buying.

The more favorable character of the detailed weather reports held the new crop back, but these deliveries recovered to within a point or two of yesterday's final figures. At the advance there was some renewed realizing and later fluctuations were irregular, with the close showing reactions of several points from the best.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 4.—Improvement in the weather over the belt kept the price of cotton at a small decline during the greater part of today's session. Around the middle of the day the July option was 2 points over the previous close, but at their best the new crop months were still 7 to 9 points under. In the afternoon expectations of a favorable map tomorrow caused fresh selling and the market closed at a net loss of 11 to 12 points on the new crops, while July was unchanged.

Market comment was to the effect that the technical position had been strengthened by recent liquidation, which accounted for the steadiness. At the same time more short selling was in evidence than usual of late, being based on the belief that further improvement in weather conditions would work against values. Short selling was more pronounced in the afternoon than in the morning.

Spot cotton quiet, unchanged; middling 13⅝; sales on the spot 580; to arrive 50; good ordinary 11 11-16; strict good ordinary 12 3-16; low middling 13 1-16; strict low middling 13½; strict middling 14 1-16; good middling 14 7-16; strict good middling 14⅝; receipts 1,336; stock 111,414.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, June 4.—The weather reports from the cotton belt were favorable today and this prevented an advance in new crop months, although there is a good deal of hesitancy about selling short. July shorts are beginning to get nervous and that month closed six points up today, while new crop months were down six to seven points. The close was steady. It looks as if there were a great many people waiting to buy October and December around the 12½-cent level. American markets will have cotton to themselves the rest of the week, as Liverpool will be closed tomorrow and Saturday.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 4.—(Special.)—Cables this morning were lower than due and our market opened at a sharp decline from last night and ruled relatively easy through the morning. Further arbitrage selling from foreign markets was the feature of the early trading. There was also more liquidation on the part of the local holders who had carried their cotton over the bureau. The reaction was assisted by reports of general showers in the central belt and in Georgia. The prediction is for more unsettled weather while it appears to be clearing in Texas. The market closed around the low prices of the day for fall deliveries, but there was an increase in the trade demand on the decline.

Jay, Bond & Co.

New York, June 4.—Although liquidation set in at the opening of the market today, causing a small decline in prices, the tone steadied after these offerings had been absorbed and values soon recovered their early loss. Liquidation is in evidence just now, owing to more favorable weather in different parts of the cotton belt. However, the market meets with a good demand at declines and indicates that a material improvement in the crop must occur in order to affect prices to any great extent.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, June 4.—Cotton seed oil was generally a shade lower, due to better weather in the south and the easier tone of kindred markets, but there was a good class of buying on the setback presumably for new long account. There was considerable switching of July to August at 12 points. Final prices were generally 3 to 4 points net lower. Spot, 7.23@7.30. Futures ranged as follows:

WHEAT MADE SLUMP ON GOOD OUTLOOK

Stories of Black Rust Are Refuted, and the Prices Rapidly Declined—Corn Down.

Chicago, June 4.—Extraordinary promise of a bumper crop in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma today helped turn speculators to the bear side in wheat. Closing prices were steady, but ⅜@⅞ to 1@1⅛ under last night. Corn showed a net decline of ⅜ to ⅞@1, and oats of ⅜@½ to ½. In provisions the outcome varied from 2½ off to a like advance.

Oklahoma dispatches said no damage from black rust had become apparent. Stockton, Kan., denied outright the reported discovery of rust there. Ideal weather in the spring and winter crop regions tended also to prevent any important rally in prices, and there was gossip that the government figures Monday would indicate a harvest of 900,000,000 bushels.

Heavy and cheaper offerings from Argentina put the corn market under pressure. It was said, too, that in the last week fully 1,650,000 bushels had been purchased to come from Argentina to the United States.

Oats declined with corn and wheat and by reason of good crop reports.

Higher prices for hogs upheld the provision market.

Rice.

New Orleans, June 4.—Rough Honduras and Japan rice is steady, a strong tone prevailing in the clean grade. Quote: Rough Honduras 1.50@4.50; Japan 1.50@3.25; clean Honduras 4½@6¼; Japan 2⅝@3½. Rice polish, per ton, $26.00@27.00; bran, per ton, $17.00@18.00. Receipts: Clean 855. Sales: 25 sacks rough Honduras at 4.15; 319 sacks Japan at 2.75; 925 pockets clean Honduras at 1⅝@5⅝; 500 pockets Japan at 3@3¼.

New York, June 4.—Dan Talmage & Co. says that as was predicted last week, the feeling of despondency over the prevailing conditions in rice has been steadily giving way before the spirit of optimism and the general situation can be asserted as greatly improved. This change in feeling on the part of the trade is not entirely sentimental, but is based upon a broadening inquiry and enlargement of the demand. This increase in the demand at the present time is quite naturally having a tonic effect upon the market at large and especially so in view of the fact that the estimates of the remainder crop left for distribution are far below trade requirements. This adds further strength to the situation with every indication of another, advance in prices, more particularly on high-class qualities, which are practically all cleaned up. While the market is growing stronger daily for fancy Honduras, prices are also quietly stiffening on medium heads. The demand for Japans has likewise improved under advancing cost and moderate forward supply and unless conditions change materially the "carry-over" will be far and away less than has been anticipated. Foreign holds undisputed sway in some sections, but the imports continue heavy and the demand has fallen down a considerable degree during the past month.

Advices from the south along the Atlantic coast note slow movement; at New Orleans there is a fairly active demand which, for the most part, is for the higher grades of Japan, being regarded as really the best value. In fact the scarcity of all grades as against requirements for both Honduras and Japans is gradually crowding prices upwards.

In the interior, southwest Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas, there is less talk of the heavy reduction in the acreage and the expected depleted yield in the production. The weather throughout the entire belt has been more favorable and it looks probable there will be less necessity for any large amount of replanting than for several years. There is certainly great reason to expect very gratifying results from the growing crop if nothing unforeseen happens of an unfavorable character during the growing and harvesting period.

Cables and correspondence from abroad note "rough rice" market flat; "spot cleaned" inanimate; "forward Burma" easier; "Siam" dearer.

LACK OF STIMULUS IN STOCK MARKET

Day Was a Dull One in Wall Street—There Was But Little Inquiry for Any Stocks.

New York, June 4.—Speculation suffered today from lack of stimulus and the stock market was a dull affair. Fluctuations were narrow and irregular. Nevertheless there was a good undertone and a degree of improvement eventually was achieved.

The inquiry came principally from professional traders and outside interest languished. During the early session, the market was held back by weakness of New Haven and Lehigh Valley, which again proved to be susceptible to pressure. They began to recover before noon. The whole list picked up with them and a general advance followed. Various specialities and seasoned dividend paying issues, including Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Delaware and Hudson, Can, Harvester and Beet Sugar, were prominent in the rise.

American stocks made a good showing in London and foreign buying, amounting to perhaps 10,000 shares, was a considerable factor in stiffening the list.

The freight rate decision, according to Wall street, is likely to come out on any day now.

Bonds did not share fully in the improvement shown in stocks, as some issues exhibited reactionary tendencies. Total sales $1,892,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

An exchange of property amounting to approximately $10,000 was announced by Cheatham brothers on Thursday.

W. F. Patterson, of that agency, has sold for John M. George to W. M. Nichols No. 55 Drewery street, an 8-room house on a lot 50x180, for $5,750.

Mr. George took in part payment a vacant lot, 90x200, on the south side of Dixie avenue, between Waddell and Spruce streets, valued at $3,500. Mr. Nichols paid the difference in cash.

Alabama Street Leases.

The Etowah barber shop, which was formerly located at Nos. 5 and 7 West Alabama street, has leased through the Turman & Calhoun agency No 11 West Alabama street, a first floor room in the recently built Calhoun building at the northeast corner of Broad and Alabama streets. The term of the lease is five years. The consideration is not mentioned.

Nos. 5 and 7 West Alabama street, which the Etowah shop has vacated, will be occupied by Brown & Allen's drug store about October 1. The drug company is vacating its present quarters for the erection of the sky-scraper which Dr. E. L. Connally will erect on that corner.

Whether Brown & Allen will remain permanently at Nos. 5 and 7 West Alabama or will move into the Connally building upon its completion has not yet been decided.

A., B. & A. Purchases Right-of-Way.

The Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic railroad has purchased at an aggregate consideration of $110,000 a number of parcels fronting on Newton, Mangum and Foundry streets, as was shown in Thursday's property transfers. The deals for these parcels were made a year ago through J. H. Ewing, of the Smith & Ewing agency. The property was purchased in the names of E. T. Lamb, receiver for the road, C. G. Harris and S. H. Greenberg.

The object of this purchase was to give the purchasing road access to the Souther nrailway tracks entering the Terminal station and to allow the two roads to co-operate in the Walker street development.

Other Sales.

W. L. & John O. DuPree have sold for the House and Home company to J. N. F. Neel, an out-of-town client, property consisting of two one-story brick stores on a lot 50x60, at the northwest corner of Boulevard and Hansell street, for a consideration of $6,500 cash. Both stores are leased for $65 per month.

A bond for title went to record on Thursday transferring from R. R. Wood to Dr. E. G. Jones a lot 20x60 on Poplar street, 60 feet southeast of Fairlie street. The consideration was not disclosed.

Another Apartment Permit.

Arch Cribbs has filed with the building inspector application for a permit to erect a two-story brick veneer apartment house on the southwest corner of North avenue and Williams street. The building will cost $20,000. A. N. Canton is the architect.

How About These Rules?

Interest continues to grow in the baseball game which will be played at Piedmont park Saturday afternoon between the "fats" and the "leans" of the Atlanta Real Estate board. All the agents are talking the game whether they mean to participate in it or not. A large coterie of rooters is expected out for each side.

One agent has submitted to the captains of the two teams the following rules:

No "socking" permitted.

No runner can score more than once on an error.

It is "out" to knock a ball further than Hapeville.

No player allowed to talk with major league scouts during the progress of the game.

Any player jumping to the Feds is admonished to stay gone.

Quorum of three disgruntled players required to lynch an umpire.

Any pitcher "beaning" a player must pay $1.25 for the ruined ball.

Gold medals awarded any batter whose hard line drive loosens a slat in an unlicensed real estate operator.

The coroner's services free to any pitcher stopping a hard line drive with his head.

Players coming to the game "saddleback" are required to tie their stock outside the park.

Safety Zone: Any player boasting over twenty sales made this week is safe at the Peace Monument, if he can arrive there ahead of his pursuers.

No player, if struck out, need appeal for a new trial.

Every hit must be "run out," whether batted to central, semi-central or suburban territory.

Only fat men allowed to stop and rest on a bag; the lanky ones must keep going.

No shady transactions allowed; any player caught using an umbrella will be strung up on a telephone pole in the sun.

Exchanges Prohibited: Any player found trying to exchange his job or his equity in his job with a spectator will be shot like a sniper.

Any player jumping the game "to sell the Candler Building" or other property, will finish his journey in a hearse.

The world raises Corn and Wheat, but twelve Southern States are depended upon to produce 75 per cent of all the cotton used in clothing the world's population, and with general knowledge that it is the cheapest material known to man, for such uses. Therefore, considering how small a proportion, relatively speaking, is used of Wool, Linen or Silk, as clothing, because of the cost being prohibitive to the mass of consumers, it can be seen how dependent is the world upon cotton of American growth.
Still further, as the inhabitants of the Earth are constantly increasing, and more of its population is yearly wearing clothes, where they had not been used before, or only sparingly, it shows how continually growing is the dependence by the Spinners of the World upon our domestic growth of that staple.

MELLEN NO MARTYR, ASSERTS LEDYARD

New Haven Director Denies Story That Mellen Assumed Blame to Save Morgan—Ledyard Says Mellen's Story Is False.

Washington, June 4.—Charles S. Mellen's recent testimony that he, as president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, allowed himself to be indicted in the Grand Trunk case to shield the late J. Pierpont Morgan, was flatly denied before the interstate commerce commission today by Lewis Cass Ledyard, of New York, a New Haven director at the time.

"I want to say in the most unqualified terms," Mr. Ledyard declared, "that Mr. Mellen did not offer himself as a vicarious sacrifice for Mr. Morgan."

Telling of the letter in regard to the Grand Trunk investigation to the United States district attorney at New York, written by Mr. Mellen in the presence of E. D. Robbins, counsel for the New Haven, and himself, Mr. Ledyard said: "That letter was not the letter of a man accepting responsibility. It was the letter of a man claiming innocence."

Mr. Ledyard took the stand as a voluntary witness in the commission's investigation into the New Haven's financial affairs, and was cross-examined. The subpoena issued for him some time ago had been withdrawn, but he urged that he be allowed to make a statement.

Ledyard Contradicts Mellen.

Mr. Ledyard announced when he took the stand that he desired to contradict certain statements made by Mr. Mellen in his testimony.

On the Boston and Maine board, he said, he represented the largest holders of stock, the American Express company.

Mr. Ledyard said:

"I tried to get for the American Express company the business of the New Haven, but it was never a condition of the sale of the Boston and Maine stock. Mr. Mellen has testified that what was after was to get an extension of the contract between the American Express company and the Boston and Maine. There is not a word of truth in that statement. After I had become a director of the New Haven, Mr. Mellen sent for me and said he wanted to take the road's express business away from the Adams company and I asked if the American Express company would take the business. I told it would not.

"I said: 'Do you think it would let you turn the Adams company off and have people say that this was due to my using my influence as a director?'"

Mr. Ledyard said it was the fall of 1908 when he first took an active part in New Haven affairs.

"Much has been said," continued Mr. Ledyard, "in the press and elsewhere as to my relations with Mr. Morgan or his firm. For many years I was an intimate friend of Mr. Morgan's, but had no business relations with him."

The Billard Deal.

Taking up Billard company matters, Mr. Ledyard said:

"While I was in Europe in 1908 the Boston and Maine stock was sold to Mr. Billard, and after my return I asked Mr. Mellen if the sale were outright or a 'dummy' transaction. He told me the sale was made outright.

"The following January the Massachusetts legislature asked the New Haven board for certain information regarding the Billard matter. At the meeting in January I again asked Mr. Mellen as to the sale to Mr. Billard, and he told me that it was a bona fide transaction.

"I asked who Billard was and he replied, 'He is a wealthy Connecticut man.' I asked why the sale was made to Mr. Billard and Mr. Mellen replied that it was because Billard was a 'friend of the New Haven interests.' I then inquired why this was not mentioned in the reply to the Massachusetts legislature. Mr. Mellen became excited. He seemed to think I was showing lack of confidence in him. Later the answer to the Massachusetts legislature was amended in accordance with my suggestion."

Mr. Ledyard said several important things happened while he was in Europe in 1909.

Morgan Was Angry.

"By the time I returned home Mr. Billard had sold back to the corporation company the Boston and Maine stock," said Mr. Ledyard. "I went to a meeting of the executive committee of the New Haven board on October 2. I was outspoken in expressing my opinion regarding the Billard transaction and the big profit that had gone to Mr. Billard. Mr. Morgan also was angry about the matter. The dissatisfaction shown, I believe, resulted in Mr. Mellen afterwards saying that the profit could be cut down.

"A year later on my return from another trip abroad I saw Mr. Mellen in New York and he told me he had learned an erroneous record in the Billard case had been in the minutes of the New Haven meeting. He said it was misleading and might cause trouble. He said to me 'you know we never owned that stock or made the profits. That record indicates that Billard's profit belongs really to the New Haven.' Mr. Mellen wanted to change the record, but I reminded him the laws of New York strictly forbade anything of that sort."

Coming down to Grand Trunk matters, Mr. Ledyard said in September, 1912, Mr. Morgan, who asked him to postpone a trip abroad and attend the next New Haven meeting at which Mr. Morgan said, Mellen was going to lay before the directors something in relation to the Grand Trunk.

"I know what it was," said Mr. Ledyard, "and Mr. Morgan said he did not know.

The Indictment of Mellen.

"I went to Europe and returned in December to find a conflagration all around the New Haven and Mr. Mellen in process of being indicted. I was Mr. Mellen and his story at that time was just about the same as he has told here. He told me about having negotiated with Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Smithers, of the Grand Trunk, in regard to some traffic agreements. He said he had not discussed the acquisition of the Northern and New England road. He will be more specific with you, Chamberlain and Mr. Smithers," Mr. Mellen advised me. Jocularly asked what he had been talking about. We told him and he casually remarked there never would be peace until we got the Northern and New England road. He went to Chamberlain and no discussion afterward as to the Northern and New England.

"I told Mr. Mellen I did not think he could be indicted. Mr. Mellen said he would dictate a letter to the United States district attorney at New York. He called in a stenographer and did so. The stenographer, I think, brought the letter back and I think Mr. Mellen made a few corrections.

"I want to say in most unqualified terms that Mr. Mellen did not offer himself as a vicarious sacrifice for Mr. Morgan. It was a letter not of a man accepting responsibility; it was a letter of a man claiming innocence, for it was a letter to the district attorney stating that as he was the only one who conducted whatever the negotiations were, as he was the only one who knew what had been done, therefore he desired to go before the grand jury and tell his story of what those negotiations were."

Mr. Ledyard recalled that the letter was written at the suggestion of himself and Mr. Robbins.

The suggestion, he said, came from Mr. Mellen himself, and that he (Ledyard) then had acquiesced.

Earlier in the day William Skinner completed his testimony begun yesterday. He said he could not recall any instance in which Mr. Morgan had tried to dominate the board of directors.

TWO MEN ARE KILLED IN LAGRANGE STORM

All Wires Blown Down and City Cut Off From Outside Communication.

LaGrange, Ga., June 4.—(Special.)—Two men were killed by electricity and all telephone and telegraph wires here were blown down, cutting off the town from outside communication when a heavy rain, accompanied by wind and lightning swept Troup county yesterday.

Hugh Green, an employee in the Unity Spinning mills, of this city, was one of the victims. The heavy wind blew down a telegraph wire across the Atlanta and West Point railroad near the mill. No. 34, which leaves LaGrange for Atlanta at 4:25 o'clock, ran over and cut this wire, and the sparks from the ends of the wire connected with a crossfix. Mr. Green, in endeavoring to extinguish the flame, put his foot upon the live wire and was thrown down, his neck falling upon the end of the other wire. He was killed instantly. Mr. Green was a married man, about forty years of age, and is survived by his wife and three children. He has lived in LaGrange for some time, and has many friends here.

Jim Harris, colored, was the other victim. He had ridden in the rain for some time when he stopped at Murphy's store, near LaGrange, to get out of the weather. Harris, in his wet clothes, thoughtlessly leaned against the wall near the electric meter and was instantly killed when a heavy stroke of lightning ran into the meter.

Blind Tiger Raided.

Two sacks of blind tiger liquor, containing sixty-four half pint bottles, were secured in a raid on a blind tiger at No. 4 Wesley's alley, and eight negroes taken into custody at the same time by Call Officers Bodet and Shumate, assisted by Harry Anderson, a local automobile man. The blind tiger was discovered almost within the shadow of the Baptist Tabernacle and the new Young Men's Christian Association building, on Luckie street.

MRS. SMITH BITTEN BY DOG SUFFERING FROM HYDROPHOBIA

Mrs. Shelby Smith, wife of the well-known Atlanta real estate man, was bitten by a dog late Thursday afternoon at her home on Hemphill avenue, six miles from the city.

Mrs. Smith was seeking to drive the dog from her home and, in doing so, kicked at the dog. The dog bit her foot and ran.

She was rushed to the capitol, department of health, and took the "first day's treatment" given those who are bitten by a mad dog.

The dog was later killed and its head sent to the capitol to ascertain whether or not it had the rabies. Late last night it was announced that the animal was suffering from a mild case of hydrophobia.

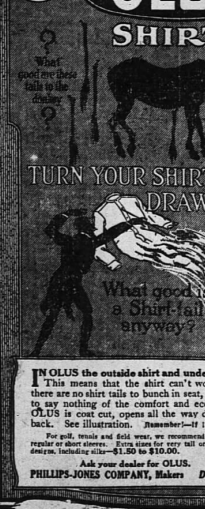
OLUS SHIRTS



IN OLUS the outside shirt and underdrawers are one garment.

This means that the shirt can't work out of the trousers, that there are no shirt tails to bunch in seat, that the drawers stay up, to say nothing of the comfort and economy of saving a garment. OLUS is cost cut, opens all the way down — closed crotch, closed back. See illustration. Remember—if it isn't OLUS it isn't genuine.

For golf, tennis and field wear, we recommend the special attached collar OLUS with regular or short sleeves. Extra sizes for very tall or stout men. All shirt fabrics, in smart designs. Including silks—$1.50 to $10.00.

Ask your dealer for OLUS. Booklet on request.

Fred Strickland, of Anderson, S. C., was elected secretary and treasurer. State vice presidents chosen today are J. W. Washington, of South Carolina; John Crabtree, North Carolina; E. S. Starts on Long Walk But Is Satisfied Now With Police Station

Ella Burks, a little 14-year-old girl, crept out last night and started to walk to Columbus, Ga., which she says is her home, but after getting as far as 165 Lee street, in West End, the residence of William Tracy, she stopped in to rest. Mr. Tracy phoned Chief E. L. Jett, at police station, and the patrol wagon was sent after the child.

At the station she was given a supper and turned over to Mrs. Bohnefeld, the matron. After eating, she said she was happy and willing to remain at the station. Her people at Columbus were notified of her whereabouts.

The little girl says that she was given a railway ticket by some one at Aragon, Ga., and sent to Atlanta to find employment, and that after arriving in the city Thursday morning, she walked the streets all day looking for work. Further than this she gave out no information.

At night the convention heard an address by Secretary of Commerce Redfield on the value of the democratic tariff.
